

CAMPUS '74
САНКТ-ПЕТЕРБУРГ

Out of school life is . . .
 Having a slumber party in Crystal's camper (below) . . . Getting your audience to understand Gone With the Wind as Kathy Hartford (below left) plays charades during a Christmas party . . . Mixing cards, potato chips and friends for a summer picnic (below right) . . . Sharing leisure time with your friends at Winky's.

... OUT OF SCHOOL

Specific actions performed away from a place of learning . . .

Or . . .

"The things we did out of school that we would get D.T. for doing in school . . ."

Our evenings . . .

Our weekends . . .

Our free time . . .

Constantly reflecting our daily school life . . .

We became the Avonmore gang at the Polish Club . . .

Or held up the mailbox on Grant Avenue . . .

We wanted to be different . . .
 so we went hunting alone . . .

We needed to be alike . . .

so we pushed our way into the Tarena danceline . . .

On Sundays, our homework suffered when the "Wheat Field" became a football field . . .

We skipped going downtown and packed lettuce at Condo's

Out-of-school Activities . . .

They were worthwhile . . .

Or not so worthwhile . . .

But somehow they helped relieve the never-ending pressures of school.

*Bev Coulter, December 4, 1973

... PROGRESS

Proceeding to a further stage; advancement;
continous improvement . .

Dr . . .

'Ability and success.'*

Our Kiski buffers . . .

Our donut making machine . . .

Our own set of car keys . . .

We felt friendship, life,
and death as we sniffled through Brian's Song, a Big K
first . . .

We vacated the junior building and proudly established ground
in our senior domain . . .

Shadows of technology and development . . .

We replaced our slide rules with more accurate and faster
mini computers,
calculators . . .

We welcomed the addition of new bleachers for us at Davis Field . . .

After finally completing that last chapter in Trig, we reflected on our movement from simple functions to complex vectors . . .

Progress . . .

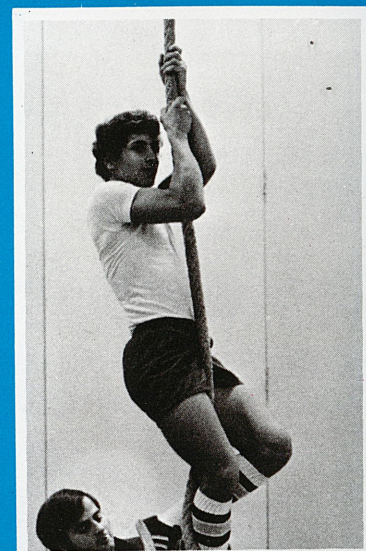

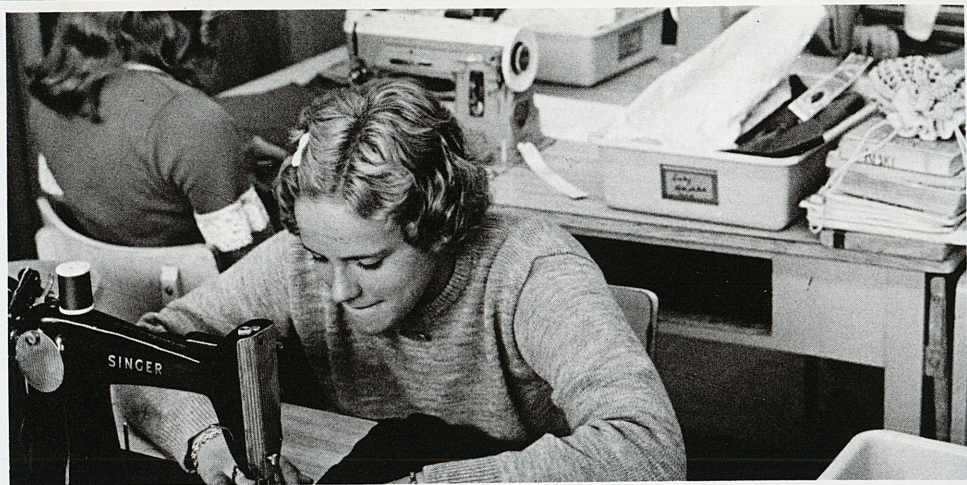

Expanding on dreams . . .

Striving for perfection . . .

Improving the better to make the best reality.

*Angela Cox, January 21, 1974

Progress is . . .

Mr. Frank Domiano (left) arriving at the end of the hall before muddy feet force him to complete his task once again . . . A seam in Jill Hauser's (top) dress that doesn't need ripped out . . . Brightly colored wallpaper instead of blue and gold in the Home Ec. Kitchens with the help of John Orr (center left) . . . Making the trek up and down the ropes without leg burns for John Nicholas (center right) . . . Finally reaching the sum total of Pam Martino's office accounts (above).

Fads are . . .

Seniors (far left) flaunting acrylic watches and "kiddie" lunch boxes . . . A pair of argyle socks to Paula McKriskey (left) . . . Popping in contacts to replace "goggles" to Vivian Rattay . . . "Polar Bear" jackets, bow-ties, and glittered tops to Gloria Luczak, Lee Webb, and Mr. Pipkins (below) . . . Flannel shirts as Theresa Trozzi, Mr. Eckman and Steve Kish (bottom) adopt the "country" look.

... FADS

A temporary, irrational pursuit or fashion, that excites attention and has prestige . . .
Or . . .

"In our family, the style dictated by the hand-me-downs."*

Our platforms . . .
Our lunchboxes . . .
Our baseball shirts . . .
We cut and frosted our hair, trying to duplicate a page of Seventeen . . .
Our manner of speaking changed, as we imitated "getters" . . .

Clad in fur jackets, we looked like polar bears . . .

Beginning to copy our friends . . .

We wore turtle necks with shirts tied over them . . .

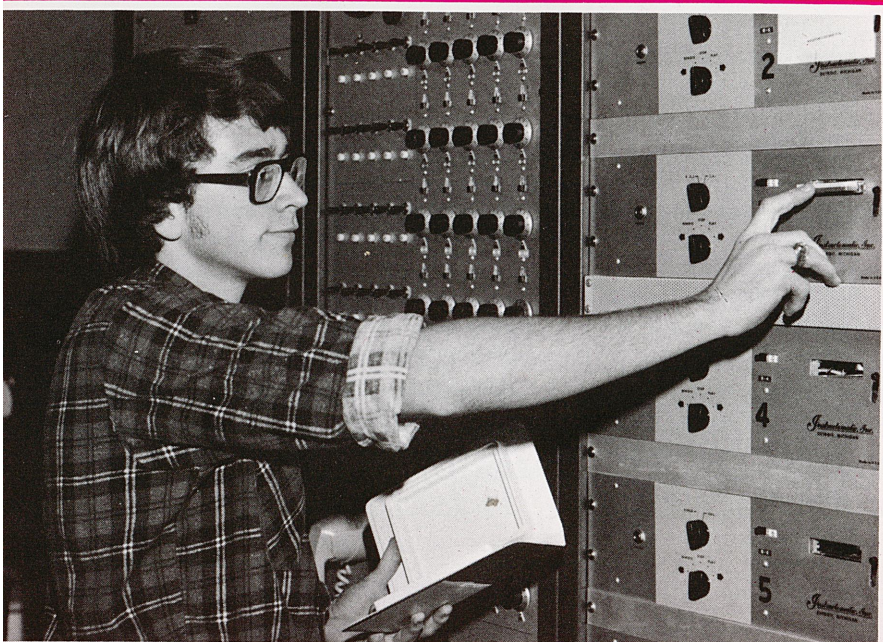

Current styles reflected our likes and dislikes . . .

Fads . . .

They influenced the clothes we wore . . .
and the words we used . . .

But more than that, they gave us
The reassured feeling that we belonged . . .

*Mr. McDermott, January 11, 1974

Authority is . . .

Miss Jenks (right) reprimanding Bill Walker—a giant twice her size . . . Mr. Dentzel (top left) knowing which play to call when the score is 14-14 three minutes before the half . . . Being named to the football "Hall of Fame" after coaching many championship teams such as Mr. Dilts (top right) has done . . . Mrs. Answine (center) teaching swimming skills to her ninth period class . . . Being head Student Librarian as Dave Illar (above) and knowing all the AV controls.

... AUTHORITY

Individuals cited or appealed to as experts in education or on young people.
Or

"A guide to discipline."*

A realization that no matter how much we know, there's always someone who knows a little bit more.

A recognition that no matter how strong we are, we will always need
a guiding hand.

We argued the use of a staccato and realized that ultimately Mr.
Lamendola was the expert.

We worked with our teachers, our coaches,
our parents . . .

And learned that respect is earned, not demanded.

We even tried it ourselves . . .
As class presidents, as co-captains on athletic teams, as officers in clubs . . .

And again we found that it wasn't as easy as it looked—that it required responsibility.

We didn't always have all the answers.

We didn't always agree.

But, ultimately we discovered that authority can be just another way of saying, "I care."

*Anthony Nicholas, February 2, 1974

. DAYS

the interval of light between two successive nights assigned to a particular purpose or observance . . .

...
It's one time when all 1800 of us have something in common.

for flannel shirts . . .
for size 13 sneakers . . .
for enjoyment in variety . . .
breaking the mold, images
fall distorted . . .
we dug through our drawers to find the best combination for an ugly man costume . . .

Borrowing a shirt from Dad meant being a part of Flannel Shirt Day . . .

We found that encouragement
from Miss Herbeck helped our participation in Sneak Up on the Spartans Day . . .

Shadows take a "bite" of the spice of life . . .

We all went our separate ways as we investigated
the many varied careers in November . . .

Days . . .

To 180 days we added
change . . .

To our working brains
we added refreshment.

*Mike Reilly, January 14, 1974

ys are . . .

Conglomerates of roll-ups and white socks, on "Argyle Knee Sock Day" (above) . . . Home Ec. students (far left top) sharing turkey and cranberry sauce with one another on Kiski's Thanksgiving . . . irling and kicking faithfully, we committed fewer mistakes;

A reflection of actions that became habit ...

Routine ...

We lived with it ...

We accepted it ...

We tried to change it, and found the change became

*Jim Skinner, December 14, 1973

Routine is ...

Getting a yellow, pink, green, or blue pass from
 Mrs. DeSantis (right) during activity period ...

Reviewing Mr. Staney's (top left) sample problems from our homework at the beginning of the period in Physics ... Reviewing your German dialogs (top tests ... Squeezing in all the undone assignments (above right) from the week before in your third period study hall ... Only having to do four sets of cal (above

Responsibility . . .
state or fact of being answerable or accountable for something done . . .
Or . . .

"Being a manager."

Images reflect the respect they carry . . .

Our week as a Psychology teacher . . .

As managers, we performed
the Herculean task of lugging 200 band jackets to Davis Field . .

We were office secretaries working among files,
phones, mail, and absentee bulletins . . .

Among the adults fall

shadows of students . . .
In an effort to gain our letter, we kept score
for fellow athletes
at meets . . .

We realized being President meant more than being popular . . .

Working from the Learning Resources room we worked religiously
to provide the school with film of every major KA event . . .

Responsibility . . .

We were delegated vital duties to aid us
when we would truly
be on our own . . .

*Dennis Bonner, January 2, 1974.

Responsibility is . . .

Barry Markitell and Kathy McKnight (above) attempting to find the error that is buried in columns of totals and subtotals . . . Bobby Blanciak (top left) precisely measuring NaOH, knowing his experiment will flop if he has an incorrect amount . . . Ron Shaw (top right) putting final touches on a hammerhead with helpful instruction from Jack Milie . . . Student secretaries Cindy Arner, Sherry Shaffer, and Debbie
halls to preparing the afternoon bulletins.

.. SPIRIT

The vital principle in man;
liveliness; a vigorous sense of membership in a group.
Or...

'Being part of a team'

Our "Right on" buttons...

Our blue and gold...

Our Kiski hearts...

We proclaimed our cause
as our buses arrived in a visiting team's town...

Pulling together,
we extended our Christmas spirit to Children's Hospital...

Headed by Mike Reilly, we out-cheered the girls at pep
assemblies everytime...

Images of life...

We got in the mood as the pep band made its weekly parade through the halls...

With the help of Mr. Miller, we formed our human wall and rolled out
the red carpet for our team...

Our annual bonfire, bigger and better than ever,
almost sent Greensburg
up in smoke...

Shadows of vigor...
Together our three classes clamored;
we saturated
the Kiski community with life...

We formed a Kiski spirit of pride.

*Mr. Anthony Nicholas, January 17, 1974.

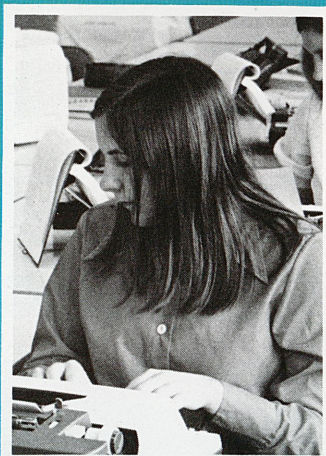

Spirit is . . .

J.V. Cheerleader's Bonnie Anto and Colleen Szymczak (left) joining in as varsity cheerleaders sing "Mighty Big Blue" . . . The anticipation and excitement of the week (top) exploding onto the field on Friday night . . . An instantaneous "You, you, you" from "Mike and the boys" (left center) as a foul is called . . . Devout Cavalier fans (right center) braving the elements to support the "Big K" machine . . . Using your hidden talent (above left) at finger painting to create a red carpet . . . Roberta Jones and Karen Soltis, (above right) constantly involved in the game even though they aren't playing.

Integrity is . . .

Knowing there's an assistant principal you can trust as Mrs. Grimm discusses with Mr. Borozovich (right) the responsibilities of her new job . . . Handing in your car keys as Dave Pisone (below) turns his in to Mrs. Grimm . . . Separating the change from the dollars as the Yearbook business staff (bottom left) tabulates the results of the junior homeroom sale . . . Not peeking at the keys as Jean Schrecengost (bottom right) types her practice set.

... INTEGRITY

'Soundness or moral principle and character; uprightness; honesty . . .'
Or . . .

'Doing all your cals, even when Miss Herbeck leaves the gym.'*

Our pride and dignity . . .

Our conscience . . .

Our sense of honor . . .

Our eyes diligently glued to the copy, when we missed an "A" by two words . . .

We watched as Mr. Staney unlocked his drawer . . .

We sat and stared at a page of empty spaces when we sat next to the "brain" of the class . . .

We witnessed the "orange clock" mystery . . .

And the mystery of how Mr. Daugherty's fish "boiled" over Christmas vacation . . .

Integrity . . .

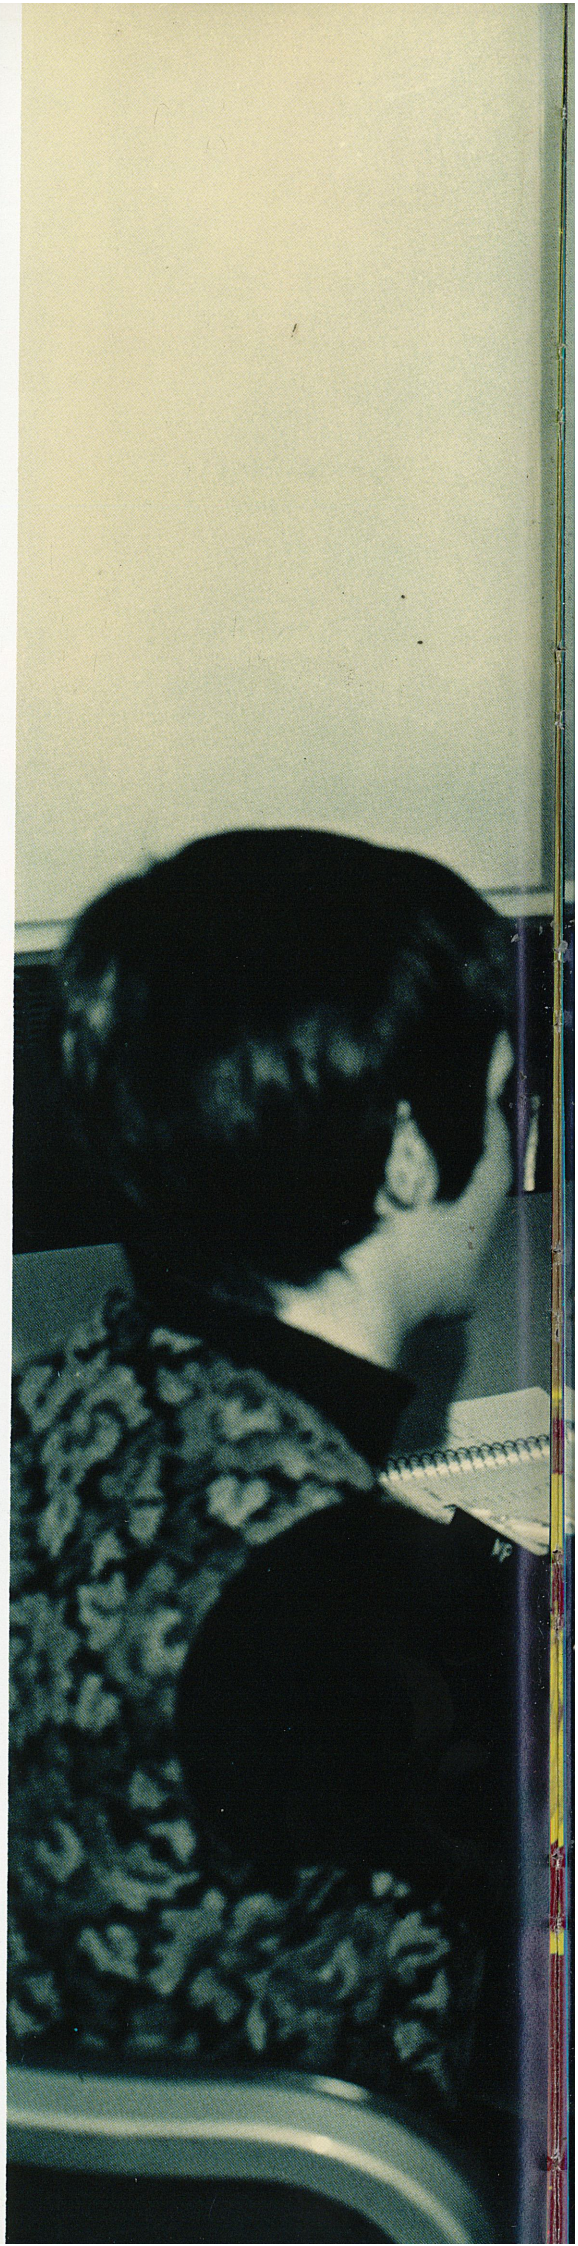

It was such a hard quality to obtain . . .

Yet so vital . . .

Honesty was so important because it spelled the difference between success in the eyes of others . . .

And the success we felt in our hearts . . .

*Deby Sampsell, February 1, 1974

Activities are . . .

Julie Byers and David Illar (right) encouraging the students of Kiski to empty their toy chests to finish research work . . . Linda Serena and Cathy Eck (right center) creatively decorating their homeroom door for Christmas . . . Collecting old clothes and toys for the mentally handicapped as Vivian Rattay and Cheryl Mistrick (far right center) "wrap up" the drive for NHS . . . The girls' octet (far right) practicing after school to entertain civic groups . . . Involving yourself (below) in an all-out campaign for Children's Hospital.

We called Harold, George,

The halls echoed our shout of joy when we received our letter of acceptance...

When Mr. Dilts gave us a thank-you for our support all season, each one of us felt our own heart swell with true pride...

Reflections of moments shared with despair... achievement... solitude...

We felt alone and empty after our first steady asked for his ring back "because..."

At a section meet, our hearts sunk when we saw a KA gymnast slip from the side horse...

And, we shed a silent tear as the band played Exodus on Senior night.

Emotions...

We were a Pandemonium of feelings, knowing the ups and downs of high school made us experience life...

... FRIENDSHIP

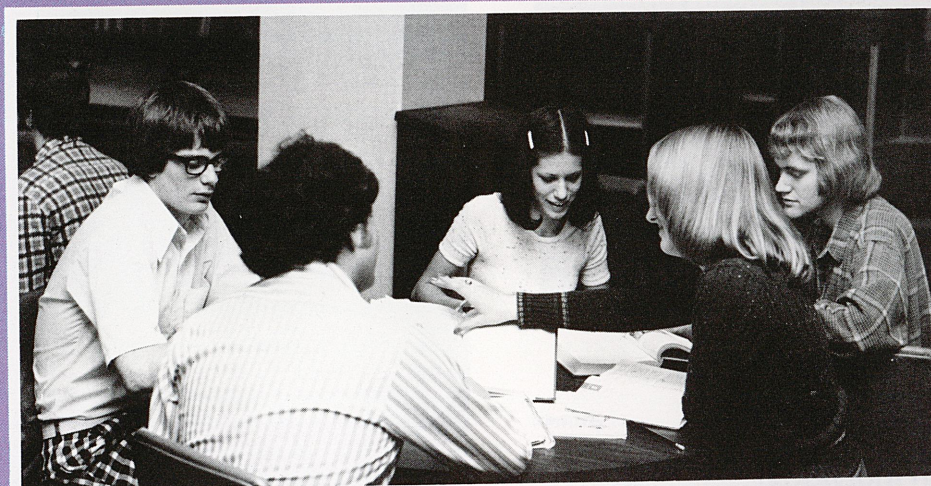

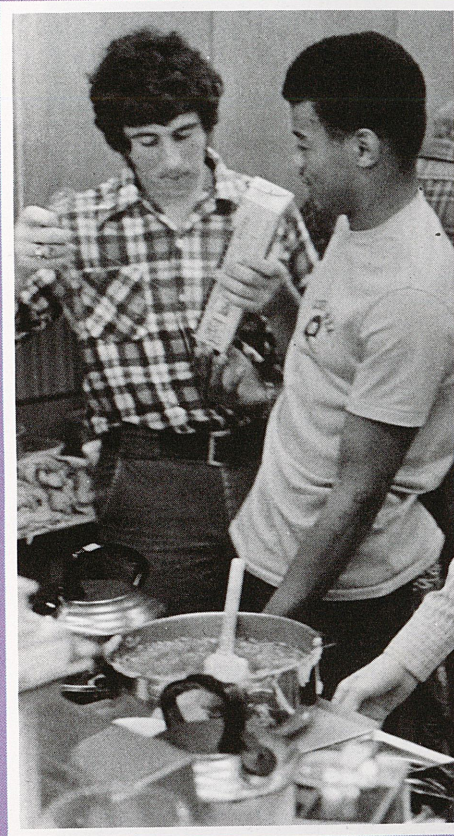

friendly feeling or

Our buddies ...
Our comrades ...
Our friends ... relationships overshadowed
by a sense of caring ...
Working long nights on calculus and Brehme

help a pal.
We carried five cafeteria
trays back,
even though we ate no
lunch ...
Or we unknowingly hurt
someone ...
and later reflected on how wrong we had been ...
We found a new concept of friendship at Kiski ... together we walked around the senior hall ...
We helped out our friends,
and they became Sue ...
Jane ... or Jill in

A tearful image of defeat unified us ...
friendship ...
It was more than just being in the same classes ...
More than being in the

It was a bit of ourselves shared with others ...
Something special,

ROMONY CLUB

We were the Kohouteks of Kiski area. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Yajko, we achieved a new identity as members of the Astronomy Club. Mr. Yajko's philosophy of not putting too many irons in the fire was projected to our membership: miss one meeting and you're out. Thus, the Astronomy Club became more than a way to get out of home-room. It became a major segment in our Kiski experience.

Our President and vice-president, Rick Dell and Dave Trentin respectively, made our club hum. The revenue from dues plus the income from an occasional bake sale was channeled toward a hopeful trip to Buhl and new equipment that we desperately needed.

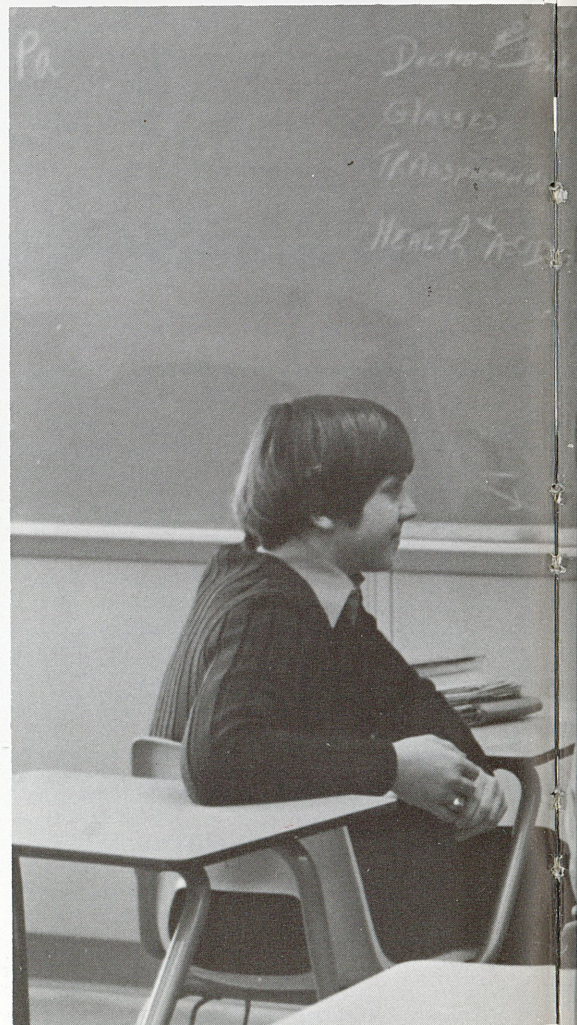

We always heard that the squeaking wheel gets oiled and this year it came true. We completed the year knowing that a new observatory was in the plans for the future. With this addition, we knew we could evolve into the true astronomers we hoped to be.

ROCKET CLUB

With NASA sending men to the moon, we certainly were not about to be left out. With "the sky as the limit", we settled for sending our rockets into the blue horizon of Kiski.

Along with our captains, Dan and Bob, our entire crew spent the first meeting planning our itinerary. Completion of our rockets followed long searches for the best sale in balsa wood and rocket tubes.

Gathering all our equipment during an activity period, we marched to the parking lot and track to launch our rockets. We even surprised ourselves when the rockets actually "took off" although a few landed atop the building.

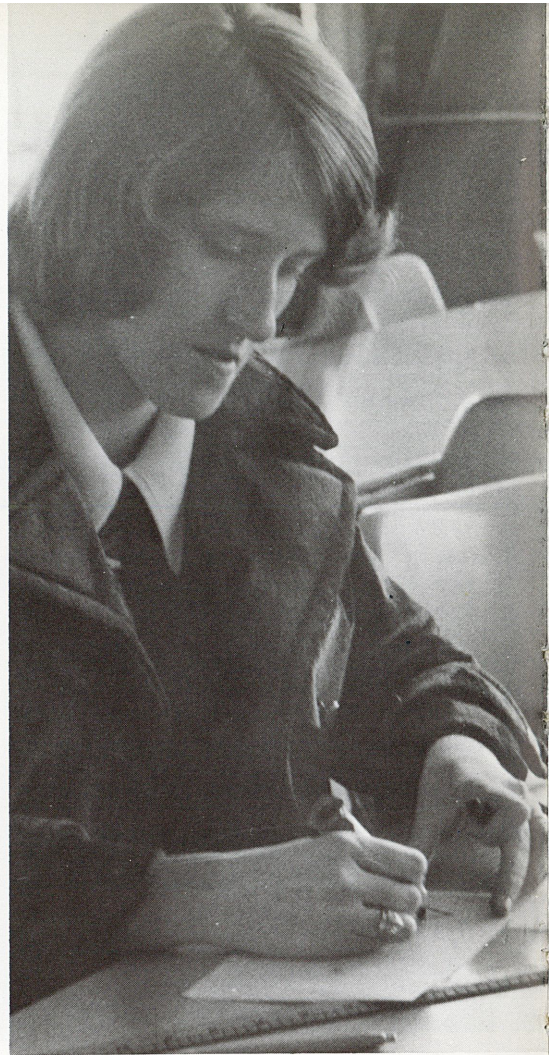

As our journeys for the year ended, we were filled with a sense of achievement. Space was no longer just a dream but a reality—one of which we were a part.

Examining the rockets constructed by the group, Mike Wolfe and Paul Frederick look closely for mistakes.

F.T.A.

Everyday, sitting in one of forty desks in a classroom, we assumed the role of student. Every third Tuesday of the month we assumed the role of Future Teachers of America.

A sparse membership mandated our first drive: to recruit more members. After the addition of some new faces, a bake sale was planned to supplement our waning treasury.

With a little silver to our name, we focused our attention to our prime objective: teaching. We gained our first practical experience as educators in Kiski's elementary schools. We found the reversed role as teacher was not as easy as it appeared, especially when we tried to control a classroom of third graders.

FTA helped us to come a bit closer to our goals and ideas, our future career.

Knowing every ingredient in one homemade cake, being able to roll out a pie crust or whipping up a straight seam was the second side of every Future Homemaker of America. At our initial meeting the main objective lay in raising money to help our successors in the nursery.

As a result, "Raggedy Ann", "Raggedy Andy", and the "Mop-pets" left the Home Ec Room in a steady flow carrying our creativity to the public. Our kitty grew and still we had plans. We became "models", "weavers", and craftsmen as we planned to stock a bizarre and fashion show with F.H.A. "originals". As Easter "hopped" upon us, we were one jump ahead, making enough chocolate eggs to fill every-one's Big K basket.

As the banquet brought this successful year to a close, we were ready to make our future lives behind the "sink" more than just washing, cooking, and cleaning.

Laying the first coat of paint on F.H.A. plaques, Linda Mator and Laurie Clark mass produce Raggedy Anns and Andys.

FBLA

With the Wall Street Journal as our Bible and stock market returns as music to our ears, the "gross national product" we formulated was FBLA.

With Indrid as installing officer, to our calculations, we pranced through inductions with only one falling vice presidential candle. We were going to be a new line of leaders.

Because "take, take, take" seems so prevalent in our society today, our motto was "give, give, give." Giving everything from Betty Crocker coupons for UNICEF to Valentine favors for PARC's Valentine's Day Party, we stuck to it. Developing salesmanship we became a group of extremely "fast talkers" to sell our "last" twenty Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus candles.

Regional Competition and committing '73-'74 memories to our scrapbook brought our year of leadership to a close. Improving our business skills well enough to tell the difference between a profit and a deficit, we were ready to lead. Now "who?" and "to where?" were the only questions that remained.

TYPING CLUB

Armed with speedy fingers and our friend "erasable bond", we adjourned to room 418 every Wednesday activity period to form the Typing Club.

Celebrating a victory during a minute-timed writing, we awarded a "treat" as first prize. With our own version of the relay race, our fingers zipped across the keys until we made a mistake and the next team member manned the keyboard.

Individual thermometers kept tab on our improvements as our accuracy and speed increased along with the size of the rejected paper pile. We carefully typed the perfect manuscript until some "friend" ripped it before our eyes.

Trading dues for paper supplies and incompetence for skill, we emerged from the club ready to take on any set of "keys".

Explaining which keys stick, Mrs. Espy familiarized Nancy Ramaley with a keyboard different than the one she's been using.

After completing a suggested exercise designed to improve her typing technique, Sandy Steele glances at the board for another assignment.

After assisting a needy student with a loose shoe-heel, Chuck Budosh and David Dosch watch to see if the glue-job is satisfactory.

STAGE CREW

Hammers, nails, wood, and the shop occupied our activity periods. "Planning" our way to fame we constructed the equipment for the stage. We signed out every activity period as the Stage Crew.

Painting, repairing, and pounding, we kept the stage in shape. When someone's shoe heel needed a little glue or the drill needed cleaned, we were busy. In a mass production, we manufactured toothbrush racks for the elementary dental program.

Not confining our activities to the stage we smoothed the "7" and "4" for graduation night. Spending every extra minute we had, we set the stage and hung the tradition "Welcome Parents . . ." for the Class of '74.

We learned but we weren't in school. We "experiemented" but we didn't have Chem Study. We mastered a skill that we could use after four o'clock.

SAM

To a SAM member the day officially began when we stopped into Room 202. To the uninformed it was a mass of confusion, but to us, it meant getting a "3A" or doing a few "favors" for the "Chief".

Ours was a life that seemed to exist only on the stage. To us, a SAM accomplishment was tearing apart a cannon for the first time. Then the real frustration was finding that we didn't know how to put it back together.

We aimed, yelled, programmed, and did things that no one noticed unless they were not done. We all experienced the "catwalk" for our first time and hoped it to be our last.

DRAFTING CLUB

Small, disorganized, inexperienced, capable, ambitious, that was us, the Drafting Club. Our objective was to be one of Pennsylvania's first members of the National Industrial Arts Association.

With every office from Sergeant at Arms to Club Reporter to fill, our entire club roster held positions. Inactive membership was our "least" major problem.

Helping out around the "Big K", the AV guys learned to depend on us for any sign or drawing they needed. Creating signs for KAE-TV and drafting tags for Career Day, our work became a noted achievement.

After a year of T-squares, 90° - 45° triangles, and blueprints we were "pro". We discovered Kiski Area needed a Drafting Club and we were it.

MATH CLUB

We were sophomores with Geometry, juniors with Trig, and seniors with Calculus. By the Law of Summation we became the Math Club.

Our first mission was to prove the existence of projects. Since it was given that we had no money we began to form a new postulate. In other words we launched a bakesale and pen sale. Under Loretta and Bob's leadership, we managed to make enough to finance the rest of the year, even though we sold cookies in 20° weather and reduced the price of our pens twice.

To get involved with other mathematicians, we joined a national order and corresponded with other high school math clubs to exchange ideas.

Most of the time we worked on puzzles and problems until math became a language to us. But more than that, we summed up mathematicians and figures to get a unique total—26 good friends.

PHOTO CLUB

Some called us the "Four Stooges;" others the "Four Musketeers". But really we were just the four members of the Photography Club.

Although we were few, we made our presence known. Clicking cameras, light flashes, and "Hey, can you move a little bit to the right?" were a few of our unmistakable signs.

Our first task was to scout around for the best bargains in 35mm film and flash bulbs. Then we proceeded to shoot everything from school life to weather scenes. Family bathrooms and basements soon took on all the characteristics of a "dark room" as we developed and finished our 8" x 5" and 9" x 12" shots.

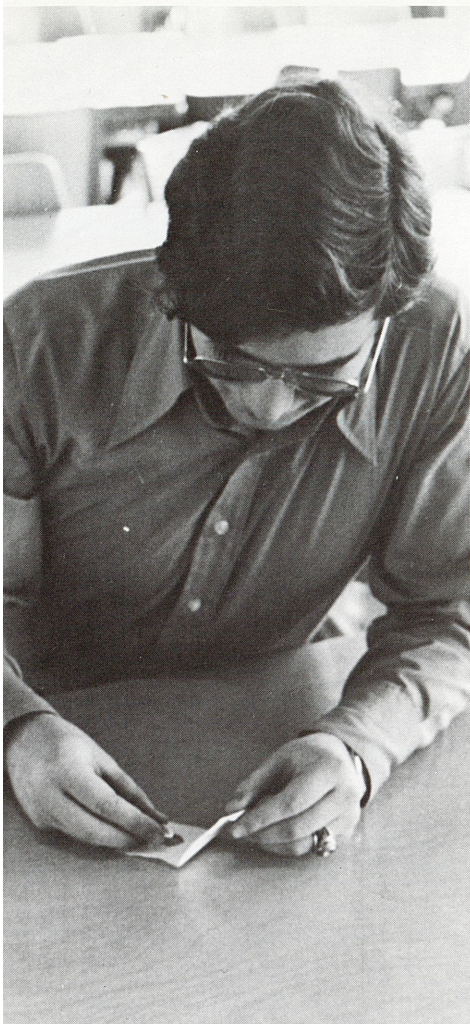

A few of our more ambitious members attended a Photography class at Community College. Some of us even aided the yearbook and newspaper staffs. We became experts at taking club candida and proficient at "snapping" doorknobs and pencil sharpeners close up.

As the year closed we were more than satisfied with our accomplishments. After all, we had succeeded in learning more about a hobby we loved, and we had viewed a little bit more of the world few people stop to "see".

Adjusting the shutter speed of John Blake's camera, Mr. Yajko knows how important accuracy is to a man in photography.

Behind the camera or in the dark room, Allen Garland hopes to become a "pro" through practice with the equipment.

COIN CLUB

We combined stacks and rolls of pennies and quarters, twenty enthused collectors and our bartering skills to form Coin Club 1974.

After electing a secretary twice, we turned to our collections. Typical of all avid collectors, we were always asking for our cafeteria change in dimes and nickels and trading rolls at the bank in hope of a rare specimen. We decided to let the entire school in on our hobby by displaying our collections in the library.

Paying $7 for a table, Bob Rametta was a dealer at the West Leechburg sale. Besides selling a few doubles, he snatched up a few gems he needed.

Even with a thousand coin collections, our interest was still keen. Who knows—we still might find the sixth 191B Liberty nickel!

ITICAL SCIENCE

With political turmoil prevalent in the world of '74, we joined the Political Science club to become a part of the "adult" democracy. With Mr. Curran's help, we initiated our democratic processes by holding an election for officers during our first meeting, without campaign funds, fuzzy tape recordings, and electronic bugs.

We then plunged into a year of projects. Alexander Graham Bell's invention helped us complete a survey of registered voters in the area. With fresh ideas and new speakers, we were determined to set our own "Loyalty Day" style.

Our major endeavor became the School Citizenship Award. Projects such as building a PTA, helping the handicapped, and improving the park by the senior high were involved. With high hopes, we wanted to make our year one of which we 22 members could be proud.

CHESS CLUB

Perhaps we made bad moves. Perhaps we heard "checkmate" more than we said it. Perhaps our queens weren't made from "pure" ivory. We were still determined to become the best chess players the school could offer.

With the aid of Mr. Ves, our sponsor, we planned our gambit for the year. Our first project was charging the usual $1.00 dues. To most clubs this is no problems. To us, it meant almost losing Denny, our president, when he forgot to put in his share. Only with the kindness of Susan, our treasurer, did the club regain its president.

With a half-year club, our chess sets and minds worked harder with interscholastic meets underway. Our Chess Club members became miniture Bobby Fischers, making moves in the right direction.

KEY CLUB

With such prominent figures as "T.J.", "Spook", "Brickhead" and "King" filling the ranks of officers, we were certain the Key Club would be organized and efficient.

Every other Wednesday night found us at the West Vandergrift Inn with Mr. Wicklendt declaring "We don't meet; we just eat." Unfortunately our annual task for Christmas was omitted this year because of the energy crisis. Nonetheless, we did our best to keep the Christmas cheer, Donning our coats, we became bell-ringers for the Salvation Army.

From here we ventured into the field of business with instant success. Through our father group, the Kiwanis, we sold peanuts and fire extinguishers. To gain a little silver in our own treasury, we sponsored a film festival.

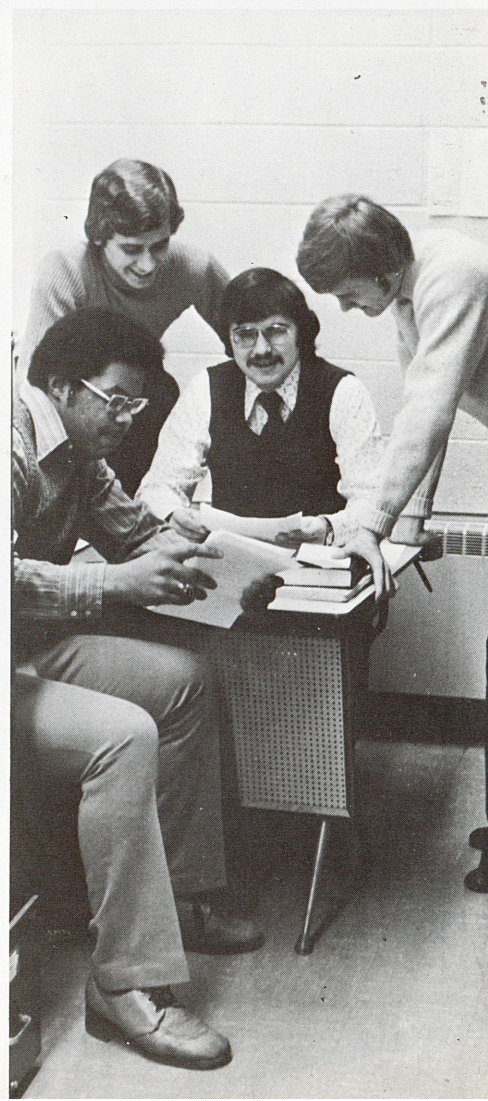

We were more efficient than we had dared hope. Our year of notable endeavors should obviously eliminate the popular belief that our main project was to see who could eat the most at the WVI.

LEO CLUB

With an undersized advisor, Miss Jenks, and an oversized membership of 200, we began a year as members of the Leo Club. After a host of special meetings, we somehow managed to sift through the pandemonium a new club carries and elect our officers for the year. Dom emerged as President.

Before we realized it, the Christmas season arrived at Kiski. Our initial club project became a Big K first: Christmas caroling through the halls. Through the buildings our crew rambled, spreading our "sounds" of the season.

An empty treasury mandated a series of fund-raising ideas. In other words, we were broke. With a crab soccer game in the planning, however, our money-making year was on its way.

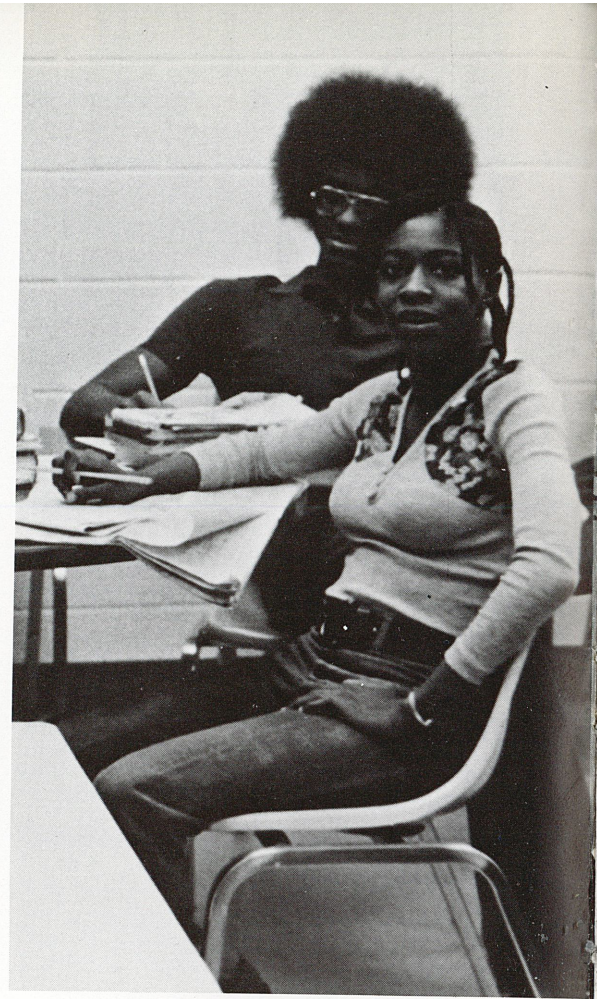

We were members of the Leo Club and contrary to popular beliefs, we weren't all "Leos". We were a group of 200 students who found an identity by being one of the crew.

AFRO-AMERICAN

"Us", "them", and improved communications was our major goal. We, the Afro-American Club, united to help "us" understand "us", in order that we could help all Kiski understand each other better.

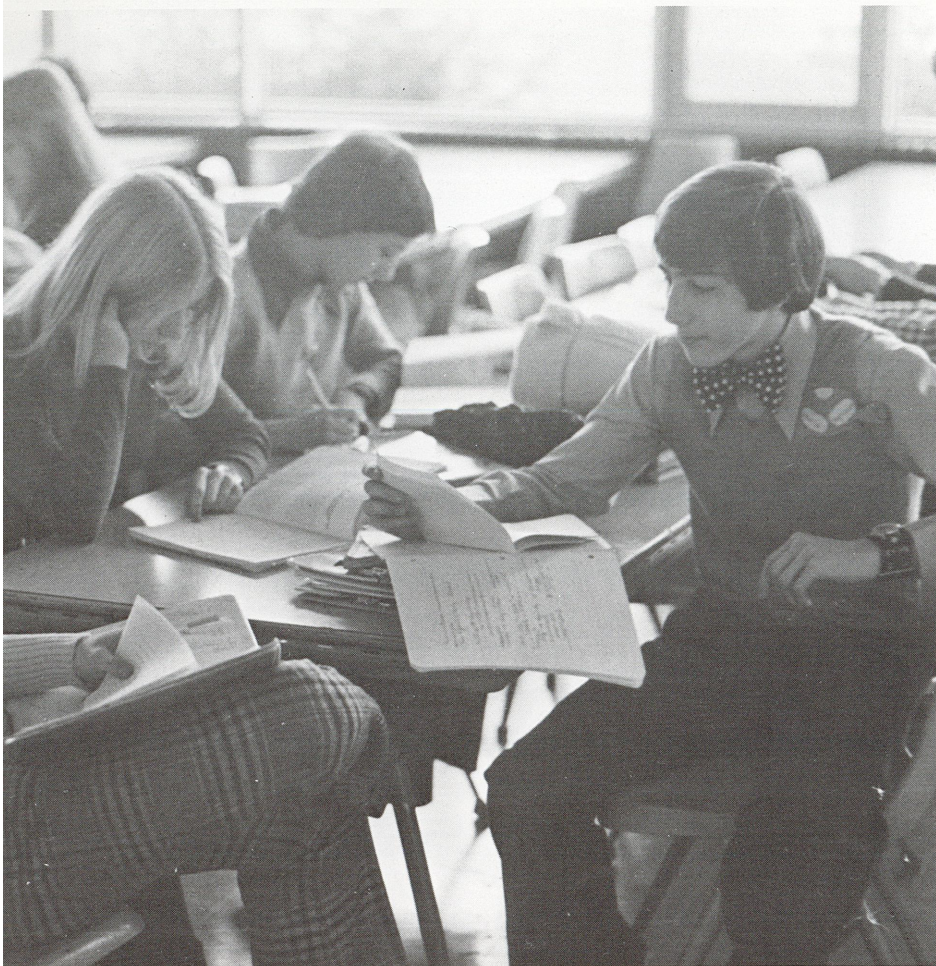

We were different not because of the color of our skin, but because our organization was the one at Kiski that spent meetings just "rapping". With Sam's willingness to lead discussions, good and bad points, films dealing with the Black culture, and Mr. Pipkin's program suggestions were debated, redebated, and examined.

We looked at one another and gained the insight of the potential of each of us. As our ambitions rose, we planned a dance, basketball game, film festival, and bake sale.

But our major work was dealing with each other. Because we discovered that only through ourselves could we contribute a lasting awareness of the spirit of every black individual at Kiski.

Amused by Sam Polke's contribution to the meeting's discussion, Afro-American Club members chuckle at his persistence to make a point.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The draft was abolished everywhere but where we were concerned. We were drafted into a delegation known as "Student Council". Before functioning, unity was necessary. So through a friendly soccer game at Northmoreland Park, we stood united.

However, unity must be supplemented by funds so we pushed and peddled our fuzzy "Big K" footballs. With 62 students, next on the agenda was organizations. Henceforth we were known as Denny's Grievance Committee, Loretta's Fund raising Crew or Vivian's School Improvement Council. We debated the admission of secretaries, battled with a sale on license plates and argued as to who would climb the ladder to decorate the Christmas tree. We even met with teachers, administration, and students to help upgrade the school philosophy.

Somehow, by the end of the year, we accomplished the great task which lay before "us" . . . that the government of the students, by the students, and for the students would not perish . . ."

FRENCH CLUB

Joining the forces of our petite Mrs. Baun and Bob's promise that our 'do-nothing' policy was over, we filled Room 302 with ideas and enthusiasm to make French Club '74 the best in Kiski's history.

Club meetings were few. Hoping to become more adept with the spoken language, we stumbled through the minutes read in French. To get an idea of what it would be like to live in a land as foreign as the language, we discussed the perils of being an exchange student with Fusca. Hoping to make our dream of the red, white, and blue French flag a reality we staged the traditional bakesale.

We decided on the notorious l'escargot as our Food Project of the year. The "cultured" members from last year chuckled as the new members were first introduced to a French delicacy—baked snails.

We never did get to Christmas carol and the idea of a French Night never made it past the planning stage. But we had given a try to another way of life. France was no longer just another country but people and customs we studied and learned to love.

French Club members listen attentively as Fusca explains what it's like to live in a country as "foreign as the language".

GERMAN CLUB

The Germany we knew from history was marked by cold walls and much political dissention. But we set out to find the true German spirit.

Trying to make up a $100 deficit from the Old Economy Trip, we peddled the usual pies, cookies, and bread at Penney's. Lazy members were still being prodded to pay the $1.50 fine for not participating when we planned a dance for February 21. But Blitzkrieg hit our plans.

Setting up a tutoring service during activity periods helped unskilled tongues twist out unfamiliar pronunciations. Celebrating, we had Valentine's Day "German-Style" after school. When superiority was in question, we challenged our Spanish neighbors to a game of kickball.

Plotting through the rivalries, celebrations, and plans straight to Freeport Park with our "kartoffelsalat" and "wursthehen" gave our year a "German" end.

"Plain or peanut?" inquire Barb Heglas and Marie Taraborrelli as they perform their version of the M&M commercial.

SPANISH CLUB

Although we were Polish, Italian and Slovak, we were determined to be Spanish. We gathered the junior and senior Spanish talent to form a Spanish Club. With Michelle and our board of directors to lead us, we compounded all our ingenuity into a year of production.

Learning that three foreign exchange students would soon arrive, we wrote "Hola Fusca," "Bienvenida Irma," and "Buen Suerte Gonzolo" until our fingers were numb.

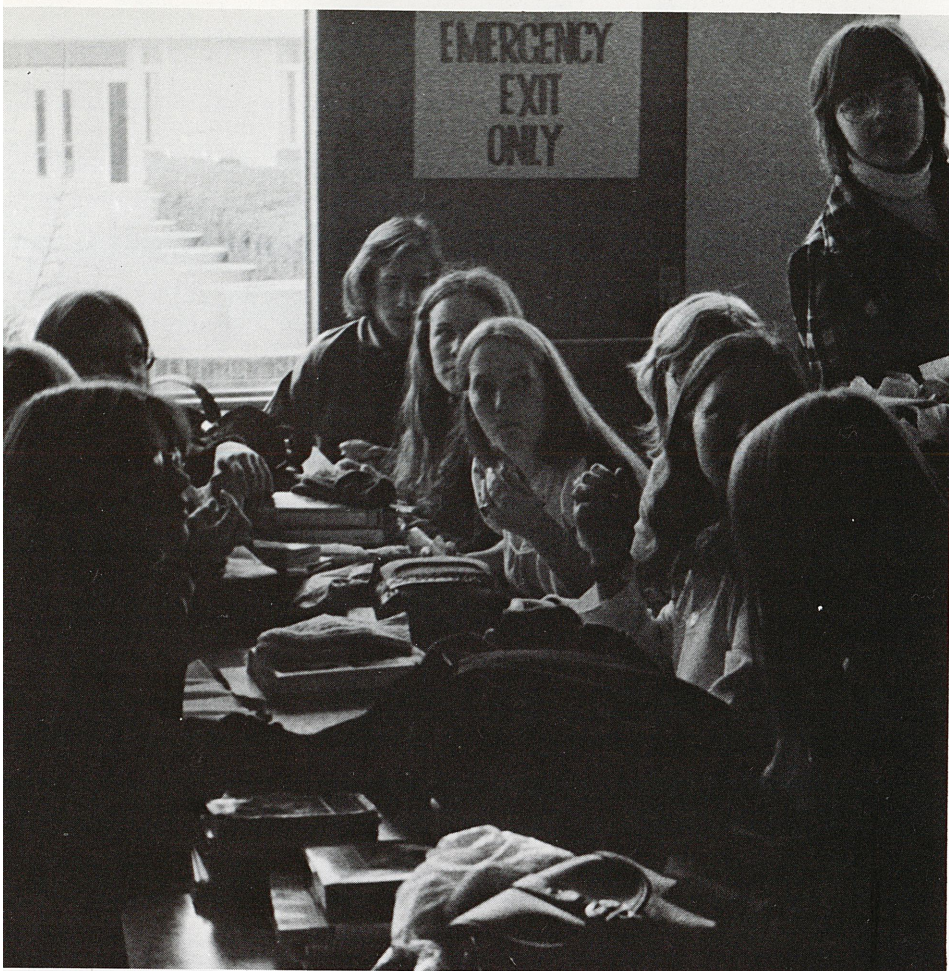

For the annual scholarships we needed money. So we raffled off Fusca, Irma, and Gonzola as "slave-for-a day". We created our own Taco House and mastered the art of "stuffin' tacos".

Our next venture was Spanish Night. Surrounded by signs, tacos, and entertainment, we presented Espana—Kiski style.

As the year closed and scholarships were given, we realized that we were more than a club. We had discovered a culture that had become second nature to us.

Spending a free minute with Jeannie Bowman, "Gonzulo" finds the cafeteria a welcome spot to talk with a friend.

We knew we weren't ready to join our junior and senior comrades. After all, we still sometimes conjugated "ser" and "estar" wrong and we weren't even sure who Jose Molino was. After acquiring an advisor as new as ourselves, we pined together to form the Sophomore Spanish Club.

Our first meeting resulted in officers who represented each of our three "Little K's". Being a novice to the world of clubs we argued, discussed, and analyzed many suggested projects. To assure us some degree of confidence, we finally decided on a Valentine's Dance. However, we soon returned to the discussion table since Pep Club had in their bid before us.

Most of our time was spent just discussing all our trials as "Big K" sophomores. We shared all our junior high memories with "the other two-thirds" and got "scoop" from "Senorita DelVecchio".

We didn't have a whole year of projects like most other clubs. But we succeeded in knowing the "chicas" and the "chicos" who would spend their junior and senior years with us.

RUSSIAN CLUB

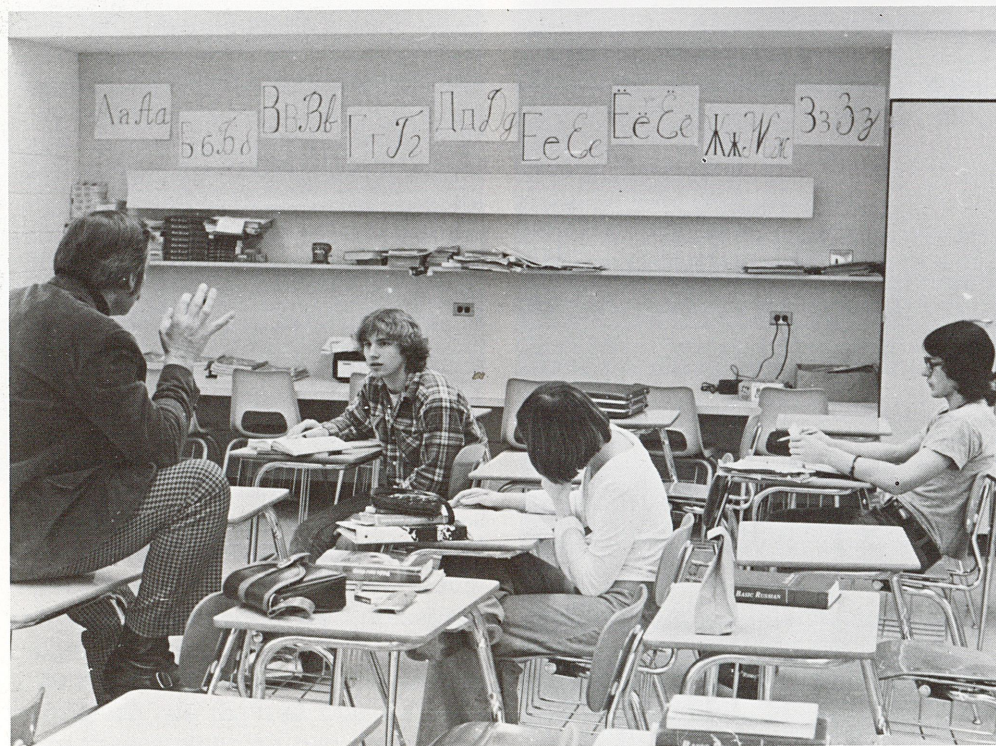

Even though most Americans have a negative opinion of the nation whose symbol is a bear, we, the members of the Russian Club, had a genuine interest in the beautiful customs and culture of the Soviet Union.

Since we had to have experience speaking Russian to qualify for membership, we had a common ground on which to stand. Then, our Polish president took it from there. At our first meeting, we planned our annual Christmas party. It was a success basically because of the culinary abilities of Maria's mother.

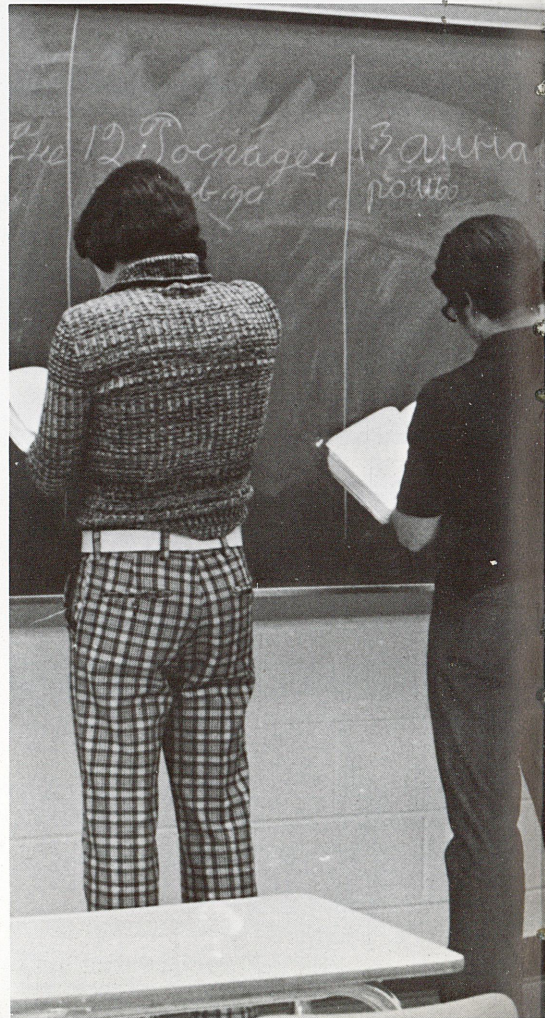

Throughout the year, with discussions and slides, we increased our knowledge of the USSR. Whenever we needed money, we departed from the traditional bakesales and merely accessed our members. Although pockets were often emptied, we never complained. The meager sum we dished out offered in return a knowledge of Russia which went far beyond the classroom.

PROM PLANNING

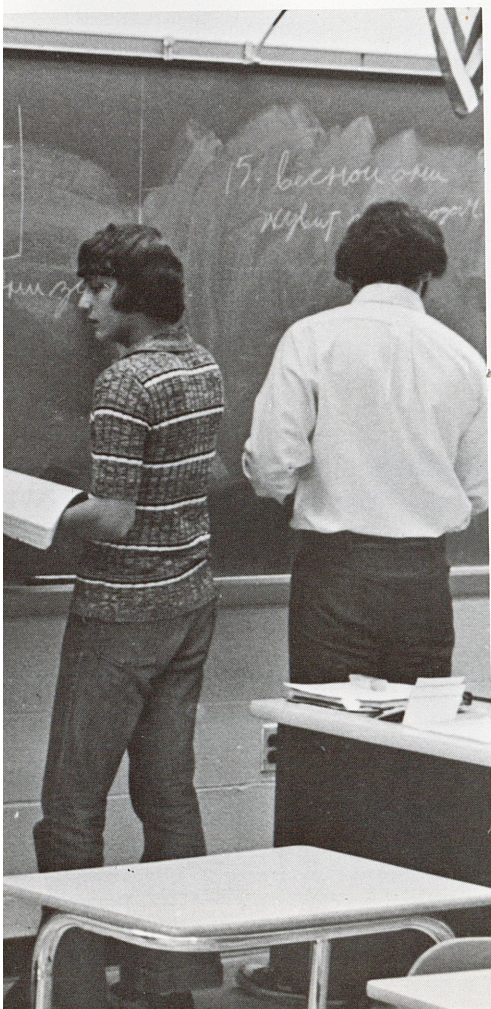

We were only twelve individuals but our work affected the life of nearly every Kiski student for at least one day—May 24th. We were the 1974 Prom Planning Committee.

We began caterless, bandless, and themeless. But, we set out to remedy all that. With Sue as our leader, we began work on acquiring bids on everything from pictures to punch.

After that was squared away, we proceeded to transform Laube Hall into an angelic paradise. Although our work crew was small, we mapped out the entire decoration scheme and made it here to take to the hall the day before the prom.

Meetings were few but every minute counted. Between Denny and T.J.'s "collaborations" and Mr. Hartley's efforts to "keep moving", we managed to offer suggestions, hear criticisms, and share ideas to make our prom the best ever. For the first time, we offered coffee and donuts at the end of the "After-Prom-Party."

We made tons of phone calls, wrote lots of letters and spent hours of planning to lead Kiski students from their dreams up the "Stairway to Heaven."

Y.T.S.C.

The seventeenth, eighteenth, or nineteenth of every month found us at strange high school listening to the words of Mr. Taylor, our county advisor. As members of the Governor's Youth Traffic Safety Council, we spent our day with students from 17 different schools discussing changes in the motor vehicle code, driver testing procedures, and over lunch, what it was really like at Valley. Trooper Michael Jones turned out to be a good guy after all, and his advice proved invaluable.

Kiski Area's contribution to the group was a small "select" organization of girls. With Bonnie as county P. we got gold tablecloths out in November and hosted our monthly new.

After an overcrowded but successful meeting the words Youth Traffic Safety Council slowly became more than words at Kiski. Three students helped to make an unknown state group a working part of Kiski and a new safe driving ideas, laws of the land.

CURRICULUM COMMITTEE

With 703 as our "Blue Room" and the first and third Tuesday marked on our "registrar", the Student-Faculty Curriculum Committee took its place in the ranks of legitimate organizations at Kiski.

Gary and Donna's "wisdom" from years past and Mr. Varine's organizational qualities assisted us in our goal-getting something done. The English Curriculum was first on our agenda for revision. With Mrs. Grossheim's tendency to make remarks at every statement, we make short work of a big task. Even during our most heated debates, Mary sometimes remembered to get "it" down in notes.

An increased membership called for organization. But somehow we managed to become a respected, useful organization and at the same time leave our "trademark" on the education of Kiski Area Senior High.

Discussing the Elective English program, the Student Curriculum Committee brings their grievances before Mr. Varine.

Off the high bar, out of the pool, and off the courts and field, we donned our familiar covering of blue and gold: our varsity jackets. We represented the girls' basketball, girls' volleyball, and rifle teams. Our talents ranged from discus-throwing to the butterfly stroke.

To be a member of the Varsity Club, we needed a letter. To gain our coveted jackets, we needed an additional fifteen service points. Home sporting events found us pawning programs and tickets, potato chips, pop and pretzels to any willing fan. Scoring for gymnastic or swimming meets provided an additional way to garner points for our tally.

We were a motley of runners, divers, and wrestlers. In short, we were the "lettermen" (and women) of Kiski Area.

PEP CLUB

Being the catalyst of the Big K spirit, we combined enthusiasm and voices to form the Pep Club. We pledged to keep the same excitement in winter sports that rocked the gym in the fall. We gave a daily preview of the nightly events although half the time the 8:51 bell beeped out Margie's remarks.

Mass production of brownies and fudge bolstered our dream of pep club jackets, but it was our initiative that brought the king and queen of hearts back to Kiski for a Valentine's Day Dance in the gym during activity period.

Not breaking Kiski tradition, we ventured from homeroom to homeroom convincing the guys that girls really do like mums and assuring the girls that it's not dumb to buy your own.

But all our efforts climaxed to a gym packed with hearty seniors, parents and underclassmen at the final home gym meet of the season. Then we realized somebody had actually listened to "our" announcements.

Bigger crowds at the Cavalier basketball games are evidence of the results of Pep Club announcements.

CONCERT CHOIR

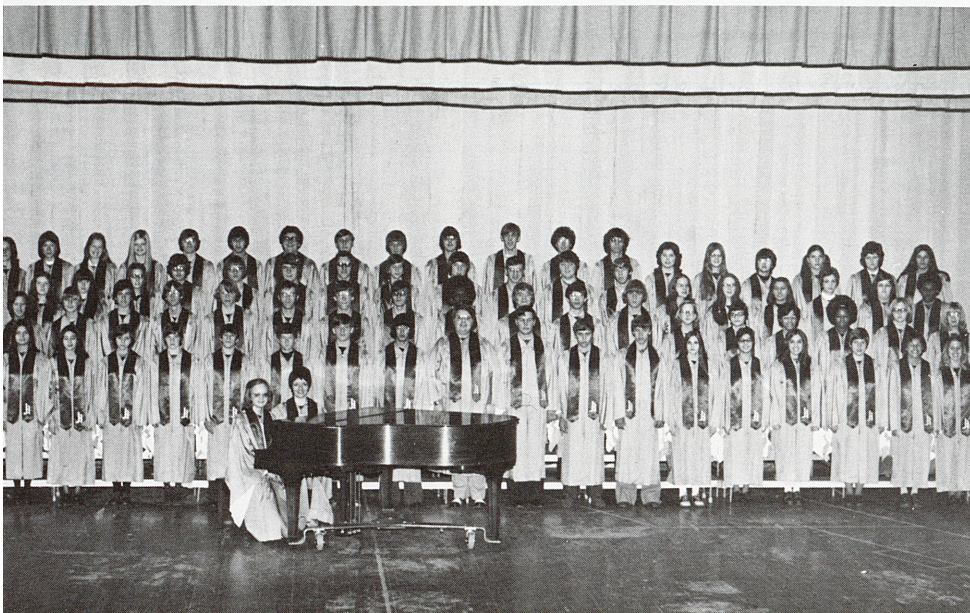

Graduating from Mixed Chorus, we strove for expression and performed at what we did best to become the prized soloists of Kiski.

We portrayed the life of gypsies as we combined our voices with Mixed Chorus during Hungarian Folk Songs and became modern rock singers during Summer Breeze, our hardest performance was the spring choral festival which compared our talents with some of the best in the area. Competition was bound to be stiff and Miss Fenton, Mr. McConnell, and Miss Lawry saw us through the worst of it—even O, Lord, I have Loved.

In the midst of Pittsburgh's city confusion, we were broadcast over KDKA for our first debut to the public. Even though our fingers and toes suffered frostbite we didn't notice because we were spreading Christmas joy to half of "The Steel City." In recognition of the day, we carried home our memories consisting of two signs labeling us "Kiski Area Concert Choir."

We awed the crowds at the Greensburg Choral Festival and even sent four members to the District Chorus. Through it all we learned what it was like to Sing and Chant It.

Blending voices, rhythms, and beauty, Concert Choir members devote their activity periods to what they like doing best: singing.

MIXED CHORUS

We were the rookies of the Chorus department. We tried to harmonize harps, flats, and techniques from three junior highs and mold them into one sound, the Mixed Chorus.

Since we were what Mr. Wolfgang termed a "training group", we tried our vocal chords at a little bit of everything. "Movin' On" soon became our favorite tune while "Salvation Is Created" meant endless hours of precision, timing and harmonizing.

The night of the concert we were a little bit more nervous than everyone else since it was our first debut on the "Big K" stage. When all was over, the feeling of confidence made the whole year worthwhile because now they were both mentally and musically prepared to fill the ranks of the concert choir.

GIRLS' OCTET

This year saw the coming of a new breed of songstresses. Nine voices organized into one vocal group aimed at adding a little spice to the community entertainment scene.

Dubbed "the Crazy Eights and a Joker" we appeared anywhere from the Kiski Area Stage to the basement of St. Gertrude's church. With the help of Pat Parks as a somewhat reluctant "Rudolph", we wrapped up our Christmas offerings in a song and dance rendition of Rudolph's Christmas Medley.

Then it was on to bigger and better things—new tunes and routines to work out, more Saturdays at Laurie's house trying to sing with a mouthful of pizza, and Karen's frequent trips to Volkwein's in search of new material.

But the hours of work and worry paid off. For in the course of the year we transformed ourselves from 18 left feet and tin ears into nine showstoppers.

The "Crazy Eights minus a Joker" poses with Santa after spreading Christmas joy to the Poke Run Presbyterian Church.

GLEE CLUBS

Separating the males and females from their counterparts, we divided ourselves to form the men's and women's Glee Clubs.

We boys under the direction of Mr. McClelland adopted the Wiffenpoof Song as our own. Saving the good for last, we perfected the ending and then proceeded to tackle the beginning. When four basses were needed we all tried our vocal chords at some rendition of an "E".

We girls under the direction of the student teacher Miss Lourey found a little "nook and crainey" in the chorus room to call our own. With equality being our motto, we adopted Helen Reddy's I Am Women and proved our sex was equal match for "the other half".

But as we lined up on the stage for our "one" big night from I Am Woman to Wiffenpoof Song, we knew all 170 of us were the best.

JAZZ ROCK

District Chorus: A. Ross, J. Kistler, D. Bertieri, J. Krupper.

Stacks of music, a piano, and the eight of us, conglomerated in the choral room to produce modern melodies. Moderately inexperienced at this type of music, we set out to make half-notes and drum beats our best friends.

Improvising on Dancin' in the Moonlight we were provided with a rainbow of stagelights for dancing.

After "hundreds" of activity periods and 4:00-6:00 practices, even Check it Out our favorite song, lost its beauty.

When concert time arrived, we marched on to the stage, clothed in our new baseball shirts and baggies that were filled with anxieties and hopes. Finding our worries worthless, rhythms and words blend to create a beautiful harmony. As we sounded our last note and the auditorium was silent we realized that we had truly discovered the secret of music; it must be shared.

MIXED ENSEMBLE

Practicing scales, rehearsing re-frains, and mastering enunciation on the Mixed Ensemble strove for perfection. Making our annual debut at the Christmas Concert, we enchanted Laurel, Mr. McClelland's daughter as well as the audience with our version of Drummer Boy. We spread the Christmas spirit throughout the community by singing and "eating" our way through the Yuletide Season.

Panicking when a soloist failed to show up for the Lions Club program, we pushed Laurie into the spotlight a few seconds before curtain time. With a success we proved we were professional at the time of crisis. We always managed to come out on top, demonstrating our musical leadership as well as versatility. Many voices left for county chorus but the show continued. We impressed the audiences everywhere with our talent.

We are proud to be representatives of Kiski's own "personal expression department."

Harmony and projection are the qualities Cathy Altman and Kevin Blair strive for in the melody, "I Will Arise."

Trying to make her own clarinet part blend in with the other instruments, Marianne Moliterno enjoys the ensemble balance in MacArthur Park.

In efforts to perfect her part in the Flute Solo of Overture For Band, Kim Duncan plays through it one more time.

CONCERT BAND

With our own "court martial" system and determination to prove our band the better of the two, we moved into the dark confines of the auditorium. Pink and blue doors and Mr. L's "new look" in addition to the black curtains to improve our town made us the most stylish band in the Alle-Kiski Valley.

We battled with the "allegro vivace" in Overture For Band and our feet went "crazy" trying to keep 5/4 time in Fanfare Chorale And Fugue. In anticipation of March 22, our concert date, every Monday and Wednesday at 4:00 we met in the bandroom to "run over" the rough spots.

Even though trombones had a tendency to create a "general disturbance" (and win more demits) and third clarinets needed a "little" more practice, we did find deep inside our "mozart" motley the Musical ability we didn't know was there.

CONCERT BAND

After four months of marching, most of us were ready to sit in a warm bandroom and enjoy an "easy" life, but Mr. Botti had different ideas. So, we became acquainted with the fifteen concert keys, developed our own style of sight reading and rehearsed several articulation studies.

As we perfected our style so too did our individuality "blossom". With Gardner's improvisation at the end of The Silver Cornets and Mr. Botti's "duck" imitation of the clarinet section, we learned how to be creative. Drummers showed their "originality" by developing new methods to share one pair of sticks among ten drummers.

With March 29 quickly approaching, we listened to the trumpets fumble through Festive Overture for the last time. Now came the work! It was not good enough to know how to play. We had to master the tempo changes in Festive . . . and help the French horns through the "allegro guisto of Toccata."

But combining sore lips, crumbled paper and a lot of practice, we realized what "music appreciation" was all about.

Stowing their gear in the baggage compartment of their "Butler Motor Transit", stage band members begin their epic journey to Kentucky.

STAGE BANDS

Frankly, we were scared. With very few seniors returning, the "A" stage band started out with a score: Worries-1000; Confidence-0. Our performance at Open House did little to enhance the tally, but competition soon developed in the trombone section, and with the appearance of several outstanding sophomore soloists, we started to gain.

By the time we were invited to perform at the Morehead Jazz Festival in Kentucky, we had reached our peak. We even impressed the judges at the festival with our abilities, as they saluted our "wind chimes" solo and named us an "honors band".

Then, participating in the Greensburg-Salem stage band festival, "going in circles" we did all we could to exhibit our prize-winning talents.

The songs, the night rehearsals, and the trips were soon gone. All that remained were the memories of a year that began with uncertainty, but ended all too soon for 30 members of the Kiski Dance Band "A".

After a rowdy assembly, Pep Band drummers straggle back to the bandroom to pack up for tonight's game.

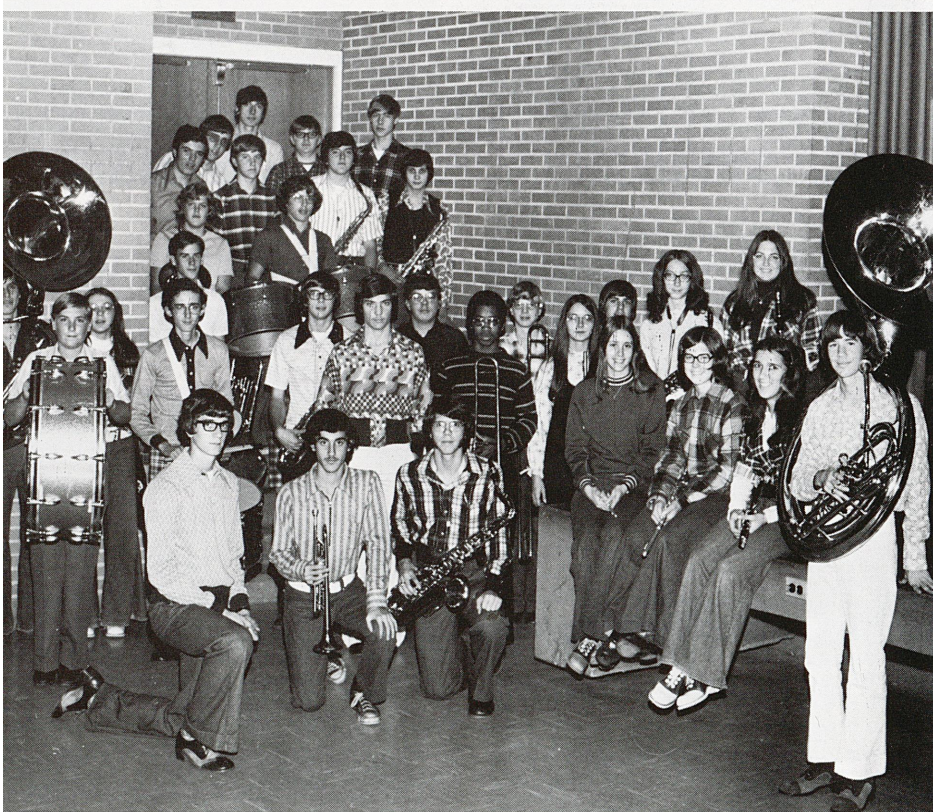

PEP BAND

As a group we could be seen any Friday during football season straggling through the halls playing the "Cavalier Song".

As individuals, we were the talented band members who formed the Pep Band. We were recognized by the balloons flying from our horns and our gold and blue tassels. Our most "unique" talent, though was being able to lose the majorettes and drummers in the Junior building.

Basketball season found us faithful supporters of Mr. McDermott's "roundballers". However, we did have a little problem determining when the coaches wanted us to play. Our loud, enthusiastic music got so spirited at times that the team had trouble hearing the coaches' directions.

But whether at pep assemblies or basketball games, we always added that little "extra" something that no one really noticed until they tried to sing "Hail to the Varsity" without us.

COLOR GUARD

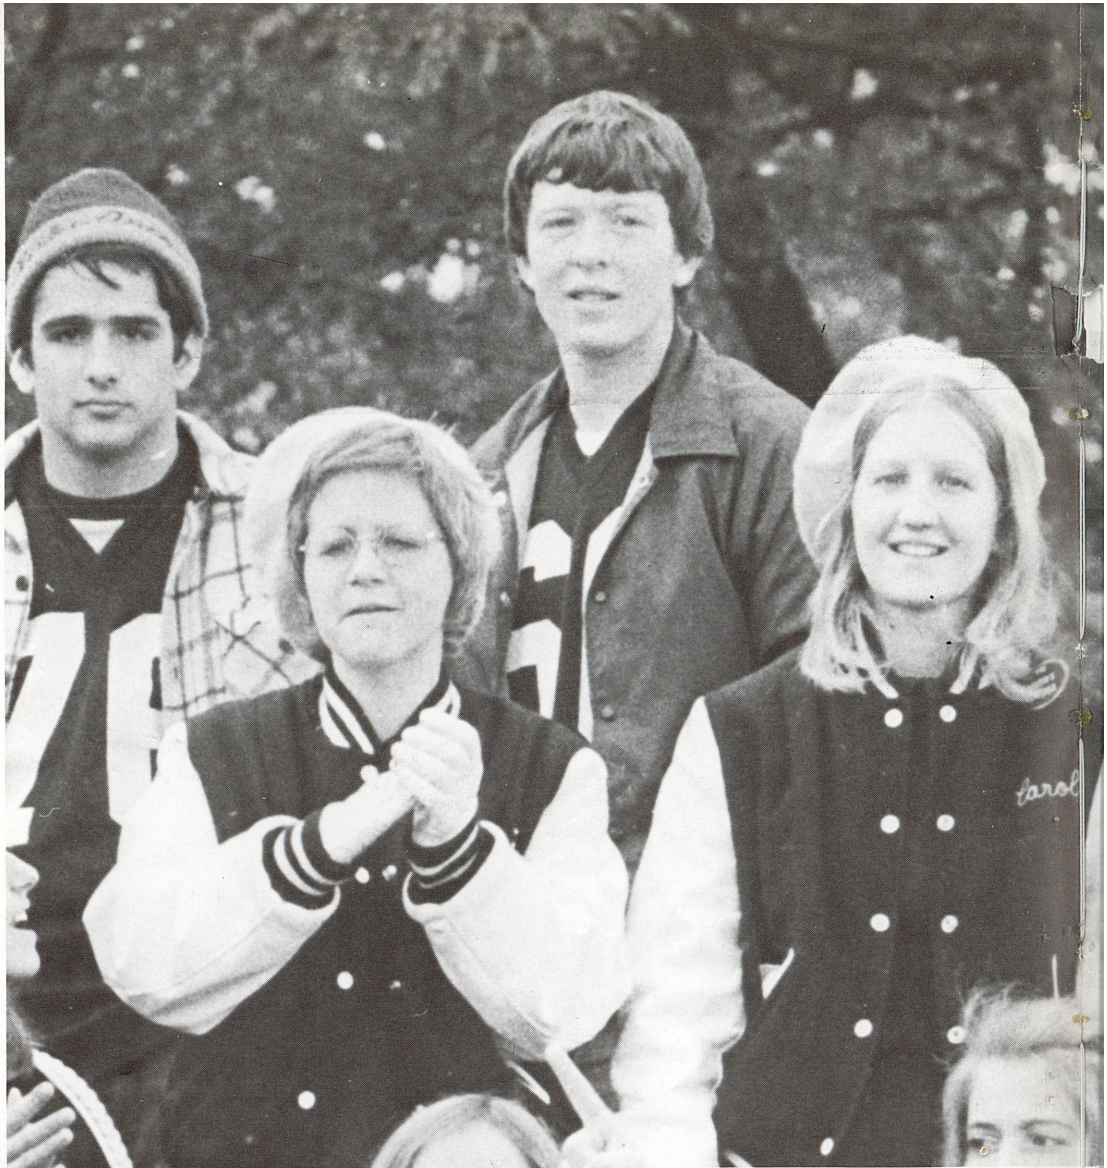

We were destined to become the most aggressive and radical color-guard in the history of Kiski Area. With a new head, sixteen new girls, and good "old" Mr. George, we practiced more, twirled more, and laughed more than any other colorguard.

Our summer and fall practices were long, but not uneventful. Once, we decided to add Paula to a cafeteria garbage can. When Kim's tip fell on her head, we all rushed to her defense with our Marcus Welby abilities.

Despite our hard work and good intentions, our first public debut in Kittanning left much to be desired. But when we marched out of Chambersburg with a near perfect score, we knew we had done our best.

Football season brought many surprises. We finally made it to the fifty yard line for a song or two. We helped the band receive their first standing ovation when we lifted Debbie Baker and the American colors at the climax of 1812 Overture.

We went down in Kiski history knowing we had gained a color-guard identity. We were no longer a motley group of poles, rifles, swords, but a group proud of our achievement.

MAJORETTES

At parade-rest, we stood motionless, in the windy Toronto stadium. "Where had summer gone?" From playing "Sally Saucer" to setting our watches forward, the days of July practices had been fun. Our trip to camp was no less eventful, since we brought back some "ballet parts" and first place.

Band camp was highlighted by the naming of "Miss Summer Attendance", and Patti's "presto". Our problems consisted of scraping up lighted batons, and deciding on "A", or "B".

When football season drew near, we learned about "melting" cowboy hats and tripping in the mud on "Alexander's . . ." But with Georgia's "cheats", and our traditional "good luck", we pulled through. We tried our hardest to keep right on twirling, dancing, and smiling our way into the hearts of the crowd. The way the enthusiastic crowd at Davis Field applauded our kick-lines, we knew that we had succeeded.

ARCHING BAND

On August 13 summer vacation 1973 officially ended for 180 members of the Cavalier Marching Band. On that fateful day we moved into our second home—the Kiski Area parking lot. Sophomores were initiated, juniors did two million “rear-backs”, senior section leaders showed their superiority, and Band Boosters distributed uniforms. After waiting three years for senior priority, we still got that same pair of pants with the hole in the knee.

With only two days of practice, we ventured to the Fireman’s Parade in Kittanning. True to Big K tradition, we captured a first and still didn’t stop there. We had to prove to our directors and to ourselves that we were number one. We arrived at Chambersburg and five busloads of weary travelers attacked one poor family’s bathroom.

Although half the band dropped over from the heat, we still won that gorgeous first place trophy.

NO band—not even the best—is free from problems, and Mr. Botti and Mr. “L” had their share. They fumed when Peggy stopped the caravan while she called home for her white bucks; they yelled when Janice and Jill forgot their jackets; and they panicked when Suzy’s jaws locked.

We combined the three junior bands for the infamous Band Night. Although our cannon never fired and the fireworks were barely seen, we still got a standing ovation.

Hoping to become international travelers, we sold Civic Pride with the slogan “You can wash your cat 103 times.” Then we ate candy bars until we all gained a few extra pounds. Finally, we were aboard the buses to Toronto, with enough food to last a year. We did our best and played a perfect halftime show although the frigid Canadian wind turned our fingers blue. We laughed when we were introduced as the “Cavalier Band from Kiski, Pennsylvania.”

We chuckled when we christened Cavalier Song as the Argonauts’ official fight song, but as we sang Cavalier Boogie for the final time we were proud. We knew we had found that famous Kiski pride no one could take from our hearts!

CHEERLEADERS

Yes, we were the nucleus behind the Big K spirit.

Summer camp helped improve our technique as well as our wit. Cheryl got her sense of humor pretty fast when we threw her in a cold shower and just happened to "pick up" her clothes by mistake.

School began with "Right On" buttons hanging from our purses and spirit bell in hand. We spent every Thursday lunch period selling football tickets. We wallpapered the halls and gym with our signs for all 21 inter-scholastic sports.

We tried to plant a new kind of Cavalier spirit. Under Miss DelVecchio's leadership, we manufactured doughnuts to feed anyone in the patio who would take the risk. Giggling, we schemed the whole "Twas the Night Before the Greensburg Game", and gladly gave the JV's a chance to walk in front of 1800 Kiski students and be "tamed."

Tears came to our eyes as the entire student body had "a dream" and united to form a human wall of faith. Sure—we lost the game but we had a chance to be the leaders of the powerful "Big K" spirit.

To get the "Big K Machine" started, Louise Colaianne screams to the beat of a well learned routine.

TRI-HI-Y

A membership of 100 girls, a rainy initiation, and two sisters as president and vice-president gave our club a unique start.

But our usefulness yet needed proven. We collected canned goods for a Thanksgiving dinner for retarded children, wrapped presents for Ebensburg, drank Maxwell House coffee to save the plastic lids, and ate mellow cups so we could cash in the cards for points.

Once again we launched our campaign for Children's Hospital. Grab bags, candy canes, and a basketball game featuring the "Key Club" and "Zum-Zum Girls" netted us over a thousand dollars which we presented to Jack Bogut over a cup of farkelberry brew. Valentine's Day found our bodies mangled in the shapes of the alphabet as we performed our version of the "The Alphabet Song".

As the juniors and sophomores ushered at graduation, they realized that it was all up to them now. The seniors were proud of the path they had blazed. But now they passed it on. And, the Juniors and Sophomores knew sometimes it would not be smooth, but theirs alone to mold.

HEALTH CAREERS

Without an advisor and no official meeting date, Health Careers was born. Acquiring Mrs. Kearney and the third Wednesday of every month, we assumed our own functioning role on the roster of clubs.

We began with our "garbage" campaign. After that, snagged nylons, used stamps, and expired coupons were treasures worth five, ten, and fifteen points. To help out at the group home, we made the mentally retarded residences feel loved when we escorted them on a Saturday shopping trip.

With scholarships to be presented and no money in our treasury, Saturday mornings meant selling our own "creations" in front of Penney's. With five pizzas a piece to sell, one set of parents and two grandparents were not enough.

Listening to speakers such as a Social Service Worker, an Army nurse, a Lab Technician we tried to decide what health field to pursue. Being born a little later than most, we still gave our scholarships and did our share in a year when time, interest, and gas seemed to be running short.

NEEDLECRAFT

We could have been the independent study of activity period; instead we were the Needlecraft Club. Mistaken for Watsons or Sherlock Holmes, we scavenged our drawers, the attic and our mothers' sewing boxes to find leftover "nothings" that we could transform into scarves, wall hangings, and initialed pillow cases. Confronted with the problem of bringing these "treasures" to school, we utilized "heavy duty" garbage bags. When these weren't available we just shoved our books, yarn, scissors, nylons, and picture frames into our arms . . . then hoped.

Twice a month we met with Mrs. Wilson to exercise our creativity. While some of us just enjoyed the quiet skills of knitting or crocheting, the rest of us pursued more vibrant ones. Soon we learned to halfhitch and knot and we watched our fluorescent green yarn and beads turn into a 10' x 11' wall hanging. Occasionally, we purchased a kit to create with someone else's ideas and our talents.

Supplied with an atmosphere, we talked, shared "scoop", and made friends. We "slipstitched" our first year to a success.

LIBRARY CLUB

Founders of long lost magazines and technical engineers to tape recorders, we were the Library Club. With Dave as our leader, we decided to break away from the normal routine of microfilm and overdue books and embark on a new project. The Salvation Army's annual canned goods and toy drive for Christmas was just the idea we needed. We promised to drop overdue debts if books were returned with a canned good.

Excitement ran high all year, but the most excitement came to the library the day "someone" forgot to turn off the "all call" system at the start of morning announcements. We unanimously decided, however, that the thought for the day was twice as stimulating with a little mood music.

Despite our few little "goofs", we made progress reality in the "Big K" library. To reduce the number of books "accidently" taken from the library, we inspected outgoing material to insure it had the library's brand: a return date.

As Library Club members, we strived to bring 10,000 books and 1800 kinds together, hopefully to result in 1800 "smarter" kids.

MAGIC CLUB

With a wave of the wand we appeared to Kiski Area as the Magic Club.

Determined to become Houdinis, we stole our sisters' scarves and our grandmothers' "buboshkas" to practice the "knot in the scarf" trick. We advanced to more difficult tasks, like making the queen of hearts disappear from the deck. With each new trick, we progressed toward our ultimate goal—sawing our advisor, Mr. Israel, in half.

We found that practice paid off for we were invited to different events. Retarded and cerebral palsied children found enjoyment in our tricks at banquets held in their honor.

After mastering this conglomerate of tricks, we claimed the title of magicians. We knew that "magic" was a work invented to describe something that audiences did not understand. No, we didn't use magic; we used skill.

AUDIO-VISUAL

The men behind the cameras, the roamers of the halls, the pushers of the carts—we were the AV Club.

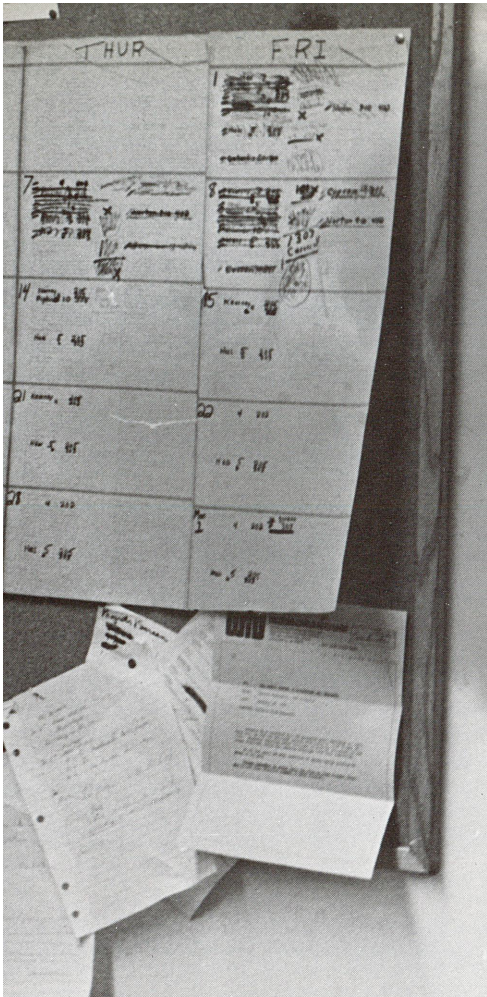

We gave up our study halls and lunch periods and became the 'AV' guys. Our free periods were divided between delivering projectors, taping records for our own entertainment, and "monitoring" T.V. shows: in other words catching the last few minutes of "Gilligan's Isle" at the end of the day.

We divided the work and assigned jobs from delivery coordinator to plugging in Mr. Duckworth's coffee pot. When the N.H.S. forgot to arrange music for the coffeehouse, yearbook needed pictures taken, or Mr. Hartley demanded a film, there we stood, ready to perform.

The AV Room was our "stage" our "bandroom", and our "office". It was the one place in the whole school that we could call "home".

DRAMATICS

We were the Shakespears of the stage at Kiski Area. Using our newly found Thespian ability, we hoped to expound and project our characters to our newly found audience. With this enthusiasm, we began the dramatic season with the Neil Simon play The Odd Couple.

Under the direction of Mr. Norton and Deby Sampsell, student director, rehearsals started in October. As a small cast, we became a small family, although with only two girls, it sometimes proved touchy. Whenever practices got dry, we knew we could always count on Gary, Andy or Denny to throw in a laugh. After two months, we finally added our props, makeup, wardrobe, wigs and, for Denny, hair on his chest. We were ready for opening night.

After two nights of laughs, "beer" on the face, quick changes in the tuba room, polka dot underwear, and card games, we closed the curtain for a final time. Curtain call, with all its theater life, still left us with a feeling of blankness. We knew, as cast members of The Odd Couple, that we had heard "four corners, inside, outside" for the last time.

Being host, Oscar (Dennis Bonner) hopes that a few drinks and a couple of laughs will help smooth things over.

Us . . . just a typical Kiski NHS . . . never . . . We began by electing all girl officers, an unprecedented event.

While most people were basking in the summer sun, we were making sno-cones for our first major project.

Operation "coffeehouse" was our second task. Selling most of our tickets five minutes before we opened still didn't hamper success. With a little help from McDonald's, we managed to impress the sophomores even when we went 15 dozen doughnuts in the hole.

Finally 50's day came. Once again "Betty Lou's" went "bee-boppin" around the halls.

Induction of the new members came and we realized that the year would soon be over. When Mrs. Clugston presented our scholarships, we were proud. In every check there was a small piece of 28 different people.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

With all their players under five foot six, perhaps, basketball was not their destiny. Yet every night they practiced in Kiski's gym (and sometimes E.V.) and Mondays and Thursdays they met a taller opponent on the basketball court. They were the girls' basketball team.

Between the sounds of dribbling and tennis shoes, "Load" calls frequently echoed through the gym. Their constant practicing paid off, however, as they finished the season with the best record in the history of girls' basketball at Kiski.

After a saddening exhibition schedule, the Cavalettes returned to emerge victorious over Leechburg and Valley in primary season play. Following a disappointing defeat by Highlands, they moved on to triumph over Burrell, Freeport, and for a second time Leechburg. Norwin stunted their momentum with an 83-44 defeat. The following game proved to be matchup of the first and second place teams in the section, namely, Highlands and Kiski. Kiski's attempt to dent Highlands' perfect record ended with Burrell and Freeport, the Kiski Calettes finished second in the section.

This year's season was not without its champions. Denise's and

Mary's constant scoring drives led to the new school records and were vital in defeating the opposing teams.

In every game they gained experience, and as the season closed the girls' basketball team's record and pride still stood.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

From a distance they could have been mistaken for a new breed of bald eagles. Actually, they were 36 girls in blue bathing suits and white caps. Now, the girls were determined to beat last year's losing record. But first, their bodies had to become accustomed to funny noses, swimmer's ears, and clogged sinuses. Upon the issuing of swim suits and warm ups, the exhibition season began. Swimming their best against Penn Trafford helped them win the first victory since the team's birth. Hoping for a successful season, the girls dived, kicked and breast-stroked their way through inter-squad meets in an effort to improve their speed and accuracy. The entire team strived to be swimmers because losing usually meant missing the bus.

Meets were a mixture of emotions, inspirations and goals. Tears flowed with a team loss against Burrell. Pride blossomed when the girls carried back to Kiski, their first section victory. Laughter escaped from the shower room when Pam modeled her formal swim suit. Spirit evolved with their own "croaky" version of V-I-C-T-O-R-Y.

Getting to the meets, playing hide and seek with a warm-up, dodging chunks of birthday cake, and cutting the coaches' cake with scissors was a way of testing friendship and having fun.

But a wish of "good luck" or a pointer screaming from the deck conveyed how much the girls really cared. They cared as they practiced on Saturday mornings and days off. They cared when Donna DeCarlo took twelfth place in the 100 yd. breast stroke at state competition. They cared when half screaming, half crying, they sang Auld Lang Syne to seniors as a last farewell.

When the season ended with a 3-8 record, the girls realized that caring was just not enough.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

To one green girls' volleyball team, the summer meant camp, activity periods meant perfecting a serve, and lunch required a double talent.

The test of this development appeared as the Cavalettes faced their first opponent, Knoch. The loss, though, left them with many mistakes to correct. They worked hard and in their match with Highlands, they powerhoused their way to a shut-out. The mistakes were nothing that a few extra practices couldn't help. Riverview and Butler, the next two opponents, both stumbled to the power of the Cavalettes.

Lurking in the future stood Fox Chapel, the toughest team they had yet to play. But the desire and determination failed to put it all together: the Cavalettes fell short, a 0 to 2 defeat.

Overpowering their next three opponents, Highlands, Riverview, and Butler, the girls were always accompanied by their own high-spirited cheering section, themselves.

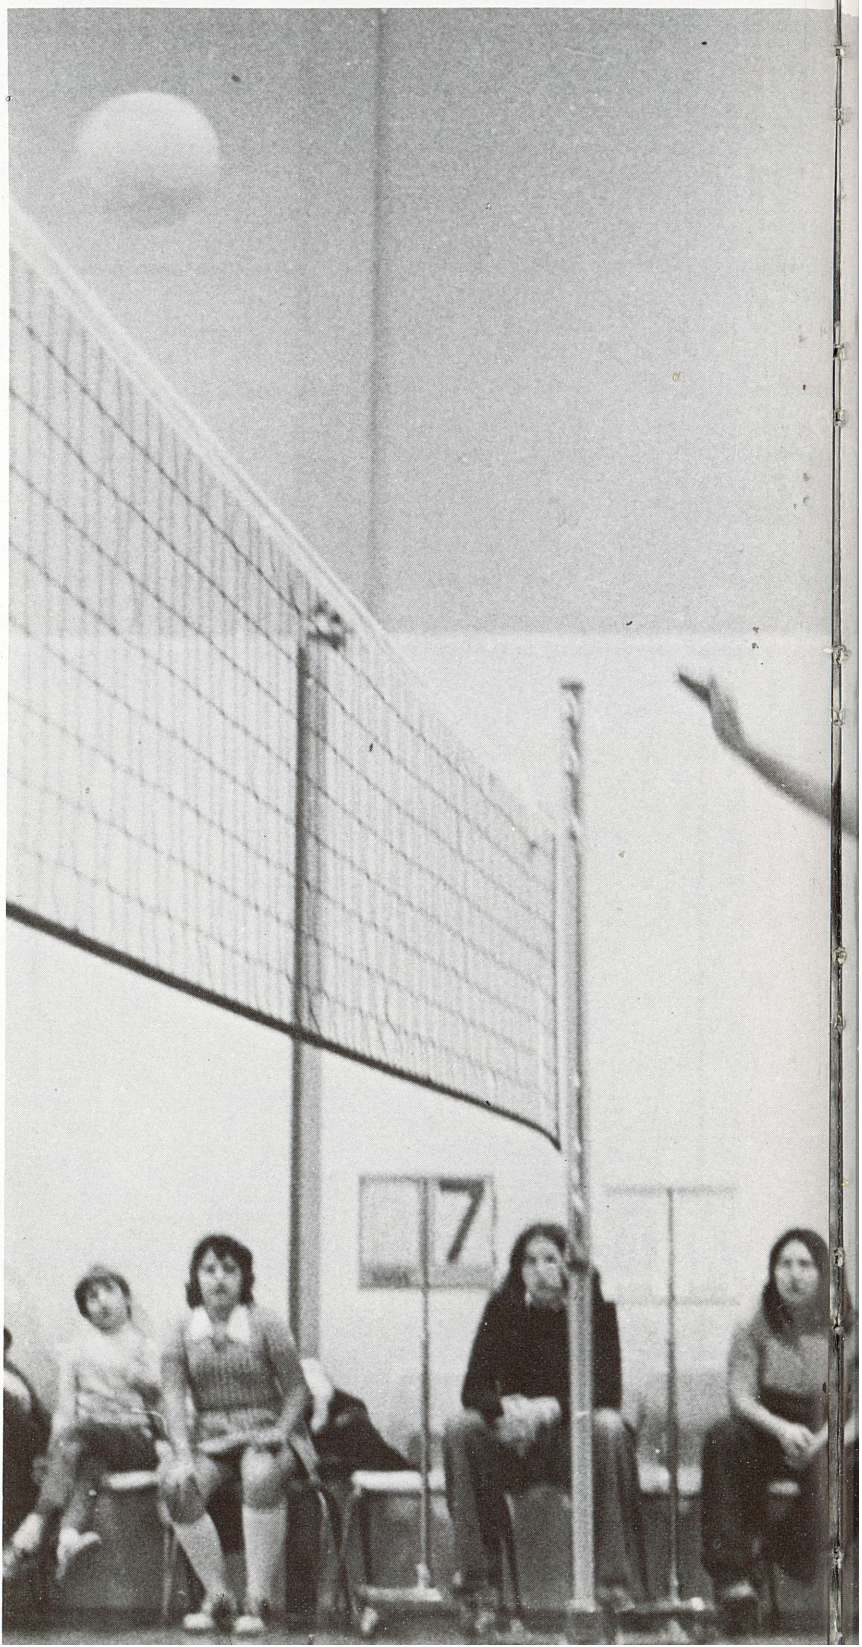

The night before the last game, the girls expressed their gratitude to Miss Herbeck by having a surprise party and presenting her with a watch. The party was a prelude to the all-important match with Fox Chapel, the match which would decide the Section V title. A victory for the second-year team would mean a tie for first place. Vickie's tips and sets, Tina's spikes, and Jeanne's great serves couldn't save them, though, as the Cavalettes lost, 0 to 2.

It was a season of hard work and practice, but it was also a season of fun. Contributing to Miss Herbeck's food fund, cheering on the buses after a victory, and getting "100 points" for a serve were all part of the fun.

The girls' pride, plus a coach who cared, equaled one "ungreen" girls' volleyball team that was just about "unbeatable"

RIFLE

They weren't Annie Oakley's yet. More often than not, they were practicing their sharpshooting at Washington Junior High.

Following an 0-2 exhibition record, the team focused in on the hopes of a better season record. After the first four meets, however, their record showed one win and three losses. Losing to Greensburg, Latrobe, and Franklin by only a few points, hurt. Determined to alter their losing streak, the Rifle Team improved to edge Hempfield by one point. A "four meet" winning streak followed as the team triumphed over Greensburg, Deer Lakes, and Latrobe. Near perfect scores were required in each meet and the team came through. Despite a late season loss to Franklin, the improved record was sufficient to edge the team into a potential tie for first place in the Section.

Always willing to pose for the photographer, Mr. Cappo, Mike Snyder, and Mark Bowser show the versatility of the "Big K" riflemen.

Although finishing with a near .500 season, the Rifle Team completed a year of which they could be proud. Late night practices from 6:30 to 9:00 were well worth the effort when the Kiski Area Rifle Team defeated Latrobe for the first time in three years.

They had started out with a losing record. But then, proving that the Rifle Team has as much "psyche" as any other sports team, they "got it all together" and ended up trying for the section lead and going to the playoffs.
They were true Champions!

With one letterman returning and the tallest starter standing at six foot two inches, the 1973-74 season for the Cavaliers was a question mark.

A rugged exhibition schedule left them marred with six defeats against two victories. But it served as a learning and maturing process. When section play finally arrived with the new year, the Cavaliers revealed that they had learned many lessons well. They breezed by Ford City and were driving headlong into their most despised rival Valley with three consecutive victories snug tightly beneath their belts.

Expectations of a Kiski victory were abound. The opportunities arose, but the Cavaliers failed to

All hopes for a section title were gone. The remainder of the season was dependent on the amount of pride they possessed. And as quoted from the Valley newspaper, "No one has more pride than the Cavaliers."

In the interim of the hustle and bustle and rah, rah, rahs, it is only proper and fitting to justly recognize those unheralded personnel related to the game of basketball. The extent of their work is understood and appreciated only by those who benefit from it. Included in this is the managerial staff consisting of Jack Jewart, Mark Mahen, Dom De-

CROSS COUNTRY

Determined to improve on last year's dejecting 1-8 record, our harriers wasted no time preparing for the forth-coming season. By August, they were running from 70 to 100 miles a week. For many of them, running had become a part of living. Watching them labor in the heat of the summer, onlookers merely shook their heads, questioning the amount of intelligence that these running demons possessed. But they were conditioning for a purpose.

After their first meet of the season, their purpose was quite evident. They streaked by Apollo-Ridge as Don Freedline, Art Leech, and Blaze Tatananni shattered the previous course record of 14:10 with the times of 13:29, 13:53, and 14:02 respectively. Freedline would eventually even better his new mark with a blazing time of 13:06.

In the following meet at Latrobe, Freedline and Leech were faced with a new obstacle. They both had difficulty finding the finishing line. Don took a wrong turn and his sidekick, Art, simply followed the leader. When they turned, and to their astonishment found no one in sight, they quickly backtracked and managed to finish a respective 5th and 6th.

In the season's fourth meet, our runners surprised a highly touted Norwin team 27-29. From that point on, it was all downhill as they breezed by their remaining four challengers untouched.

To show for their many hours of work, they proudly displayed a perfect slate of 8-0. Coach Hauser described his team as being by far the best he had ever coached. He claimed, "They ran with more pride and confidence than any previous team I've had." Their record verifies that.

FOOTBALL

It all began at Bethany College. Two grueling weeks of football characterized by days of 90 degree heat, locker room stench that burned your nostrils and Mr. Morea's board of wisdom when our minds and bodies were too tired to respond adequately to mere words. This marked only the starting point of the 1973 season for the Kiski Area

Cavaliers.

We were facing the forth coming season with a team plagued with youth and inexperience. Forecasts were dour and gloomy. And after falling short in the third game of the season to Valley, the skepticism grew. We bounced back against Connellsville only to be stopped by Penn Hills in the ensuing non-conference game. And many people left us for dead.

But we overcame the discouragement of defeat; regrouped, and attacked with a tenacious desire to win. A revived offense and an improving defense manhandled Hempfield, and then easily disposed of Wilkinsburg. Those who earlier had placed the Cavaliers in a coffin, looked on as we were once again in contention for the Foothills crown.

One game, one team was all that stood between us and our sixth consecutive Foothills title. But after exploding to a 28-14 lead; one mistake led to another. Our kismet appeared predetermined. We watched helplessly as the tide strangely turned and the Greensburg Lions roared back for three consecutive scores.

The following week, once again we picked up ourselves, fought off the disappointment and the bitter emptiness of failure, and finalized the season with a 22-6 victory over Norwin.

The roar of the crowd echoed throughout the stands as the Cavaliers charged onto the field. These forty-eight glamorous minutes of Friday night football climaxed endless hours of preparation and work.

It all began in August and for twelve straight days, coaches, managers, and players inhabited Bethany College. When enthusiasm was low, Mr. Wicks "pepped everyone up", and Mr. Morea "counselled" and Mr. Dilts was an all around "good guy". They were not only great coaches of football but also of life.

The nights of games, the hours from four to eight dragged on forever. After a quick meal, "The Great Challenge", and a fast review, they were ready for a Friday night of football. After the game the cycle didn't end.

Friday was reviewed over and over again Saturday morning at the movies. The ghost of their mistakes were there to haunt them again and again.

With a life span of only eleven weeks, the seniors jogged their final lap before the Norwin game. They stood united as a team, a group who had shared 1848 hours.

But as the clock ran out the cycle ended abruptly.

They have seen their last night practice, their last cold lunch, and their last muddy uniform, but the spirit of the 50 boys who were the 1973 Kiski Area football team will never die.

As a team, they were young, inexperienced, and untested. The odds were piled high against them. But Mr. Veselicky's "youngsters" refused to yield to the older and supposedly superior competition. Following a slow start on exhibition play, the golfers stormed into section competition full of confidence and desire.

Led by MVP Bill Watt and senior Dan Rzewnicki, they rolled over five consecutive opponents before finally being side-tracked by Burrell at the winner's home course. However, they quickly regained momentum by embarrassing Kittanning in the seventh match of the season-14-2. Against Ford City, Bill Watt broke an 8-8 deadlock in sudden death overtime to give his team a rewarding 9-8 victory. They now boasted an impressive 7-1 record. One more victory-and the title would be theirs.

But a stubborn Highlands team set them back once, then twice. This resulted in a three-way tie for the number one spot. The three teams met at Saxonburg to determine who would be section champs. Burrell emerged victorious

GYMNASTICS

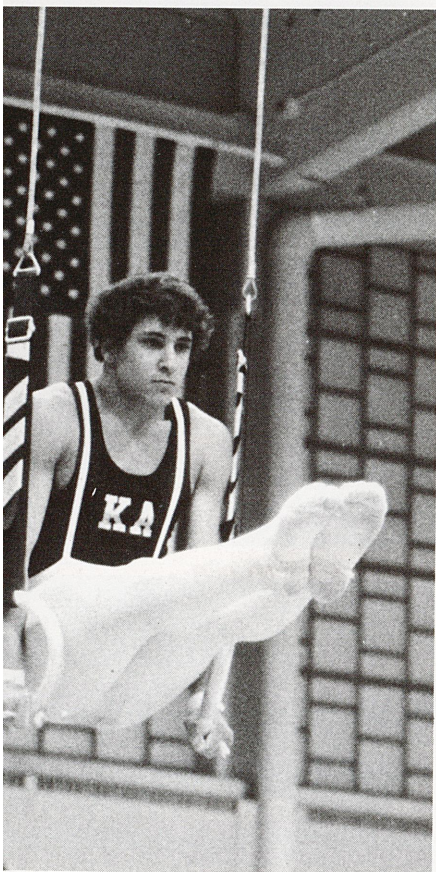

The body is trained to function as one with the mind. With the passage of time, the training becomes more rigid for required endurance; enabling a substance of strength and body coordination for a longer period of time. In turn, better performance is the result. And as the KA gymnasts well know, better performance produces victories. For they have now compiled a string of twenty-nine victories in section competition over a span of three years.

Upon graduation, one half of the 1973 Championship team had gathered their bag of talents and skills, bade farewell to their alma mater, and began to travel along their own separate paths. They left behind a team that supposedly was under-age and low on personnel.

Even though they had only four seniors and one lone sophomore, this proved to be only a bad misconception of the 1974 team. They had become accustomed to winning, and anything short of this they would not easily accept. Practice began in the summer when gymnasts attended Sokol camp. General routines and overall training marked the first couple of weeks. Then each gymnast picked an apparatus to call his own.

With a new addition to high school gymnastics being the "all-around", Arny and Jeff labored in every event to add one-ninth of their score to the team's score. With Timmy, an AHP ninth grader, being the "mascot", the entire team learned where enthusiasm can get you.

GYMNASTICS

With all their triumphs, though, it seemed to be the year for injuries. Between Arny's bad back, Mike's and Lee's ankles, and John's arm, the team never performed as a group without having at least one member missing. With seniors having a good season, juniors wanted to match the talents. Brooks, Mike,

Sam, and Jeff also left an erasable mark on the final score.

This never bothered their performance, though, as Peters Township was their only opponent to come close to defeating them. They were determined to halt the Cavaliers' steady string of victories. But the string was only lengthened as the Cavaliers eliminated a previous scoring record of 115 points en-route to a 123-105 victory. Against the same team the second time around, they even bettered this mark with an impressive 131 points.

Then with the end of the season, came the championships. Seven team members advanced to the sectional qualifiers for individuals. Army on parallel bars and Lee on floor exercise, also went to the WPIAL individual qualifiers.

The team title was again within their reach. With a busload of enthusiastic fans to accompany them, the gymnasts met Peters Township

They whirled, twisted, and flipped until they had amassed over 150 points, and with these points, the trophy was theirs.

The evasive title had once again escaped the grasp of the Cavaliers but not before they had captured their third straight section championship without suffering a loss. And of course there are always new stars over the next horizon.

VARSITY SWIMMING

Amidst the swimming season of 1973-74, it came to pass that an energy crisis crept silently upon the land until eventually it had spread over the entire force of the earth. And not a team suffered more severely over this mystifying mess than the swimmers. Where they had once labored in the comfort of their heated pool they now quivered from the meanness of the cold water. Their lips changed from pink to blue and the blood that raced through their young veins was like that of a cold blooded fish. And it reached a point where someone brought a hockey stick and puck to practice.

But they never ceased swimming. They propelled themselves four miles daily excluding sprints in a time period of two hours. A short break was always appreciated. But these moments came very sparingly.

To speak the truth though, they

WRESTLING

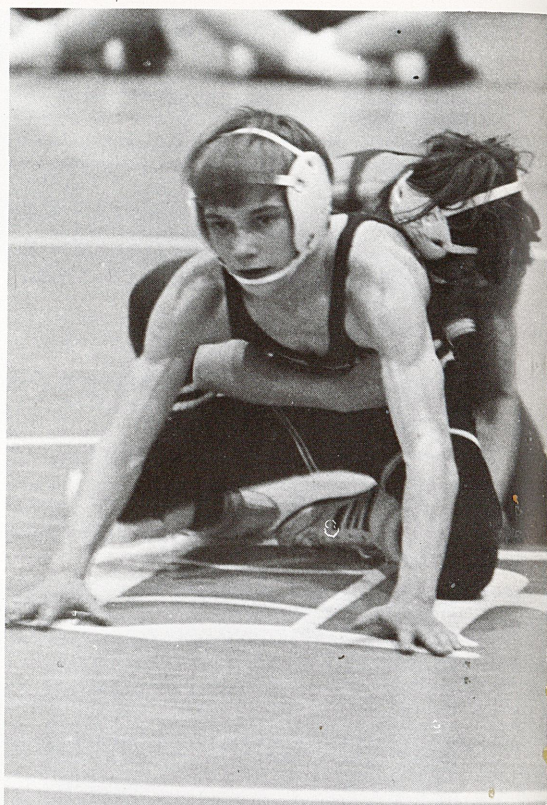

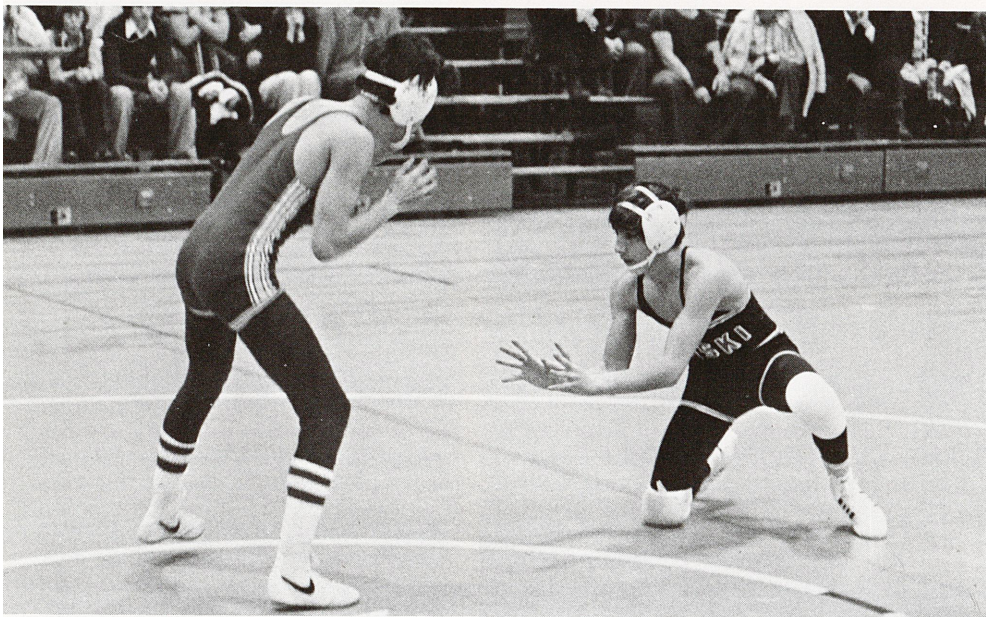

For most wrestlers, preparation began early in autumn. They continued workouts three days a week as winter set in.

From November until March they worked, converting 601 and 602 into a wrestling room. As the temperature surpassed 100, they drilled on breakdowns, escapes, pins . . . The air grew heavy as sweat dripped from their bodies, but they continued.

Now it was a known fact that out of 13 wrestlers, only two starters returned from last year's Section

Champs. Thus it was a surprise to many that the wrestlers lost but two and tied one in a total of 14 matches. Their match with Lower Burrell was the highlight of the season, Mr. Roberto referred to them as a "pleasant rivalry" when the Cavaliers once again broke Burrell's

Roberto described him as being one of the most devoted athletes he had ever known.

Much of the wrestlers' success can be credited to their hard work. As for the kind of team they were—let their record do the talking.

The sophomores . . . a conglomeration of beginners who had to forget Washington, Allegheny, and Vandergrift.

Struggling to maintain an identity, it was necessary for us to unite to form the Class of '76. We soon discovered we all needed each other when Seniors left a mess in the cafeteria and Juniors tried to push us out of our lockers.

We sold no candy and peddled no magazines but found difficulty in just remembering to bring in one dollar. We pushed on. Tons of poster paper, jumbo packages of magic markers, and limited artistic ability helped us plaster "one dollar" posters from 201 to 215. Even though Mike wasn't the "biggest mouth" in the class, Mrs. Borowski boasted that the dollar drive had a better response than any previous year.

But as we "graduated" to the junior hallway, the junior lockers, and cultures instead of U.S. History we were determined to maintain the identity that first united us as the "itty-bitty" sophomores.

Juniors—Everyone knew we were the individuals who inhabited the cubicle between the sophomore lockers and senior building. Before Mr. Balfour delivered our rings, we had grown accustomed to Cultures instead of U.S. History and 701 and 702 instead of 201 and 208.

When the seniors and sophomores slept, we woke at 7:30 for PSAT tests—a true sign of a junior. The seniors had magazines and sophomores had dues, but we pulled through with Betsy Ross Candy. Peddling "Crunchies" and "Almond Bars" to everyone we met, we chuckled as Joe screamed when the profits came back in rolls of a 100 pennies.

We had to adjust to being the "in-betweens." We were too old to get lost and too young to take hold of the reins the seniors still held. Knowing the junior hall was crowded, we took advantage of the upper halls. We learned it was easier to accept someone's opinion than to argue. We were suave. We were scared. We were the class of '75.

In the midst of the flurry of the school year, the senior class was born. Led by our "fearless" advisor, Mr. Hartley, we elected officers and plunged into the annual magazine sale which netted us $3,200. What appeared a tooth-and-nail battle between 411 and 405 ended up with 401 the winner for the pizza party.

Our year was the year of the energy crisis, curriculum days, and daylight savings time in January.

We contributed to the school's enthusiasm by winning the spirit bell. Led by "Mike and the boys," we cheered on all of our sports teams.

Then at the Greensburg game, "we had a dream" of continuing our Foothills Championship. Our dream faltered, but our human wall didn't. Led by us, the entire student body shared in the revival of "We Believe."

We worked together, we laughed together, we came together. Now as the "Class of 74" we go out into the world with our diplomas—and our memories.

To seniors these 260 pages are your final memories . . .
To juniors they mean goals and ambitions . . .
To sophomores they are the core of a new world . . .
But to us, they were a way of life for twelve long months.
We began
mere daises in the snow—
Our only hope for survival was the will to survive . . .
Our road was long and rocky
But we lived through it all . . .
But now that life is gone and only shadows, pencil shavings and memories live in a world that was—
Chattering typewriters and mellowing voices . . .
We cried when you cried . . .
We laughed when you laughed . . .
We clicked our cameras, made a note and put it all together
So we both could laugh and cry
once again . . .
The snow has long fallen
all the activity has gone
and now only shadows cast their way into each of us . . .
To Miss Gibson—who has finished her last yearbook year—
we say thank you for seeing us through the good and bad.
To Miss Jenks—our rookie—we say good luck next year . . .
To Mr. Brozovich we say thanks for your advice and many hours of guidance . . .
To the students and teachers, we say thanks for all the lost names and final scores and quick interviews . . .
You all have given us so much . . .
Now, we give you . . .

BASEBALL

Looking over the field of boys trying out that first night of tryouts, we felt pretty confident. There were more than enough boys trying out with a multitude of talent. We looked forward to a season of powerful homeruns and ace fielding.

As practices progressed, our confidence soared. We were hitting and fielding better than ever and seemed to be learning more and more strategy every day.

Smashed glasses (like when Paul Linkes was catching without a face mask) and stoved fingers were frequent if not too serious injuries, but kept our managers pretty busy.

The season started and our confidence and hard work seemed to prove itself as we tromped over Kiski Prep. A loss in the second me disappointed us but still we pt our confidence. After all, what is one loss?

We suffered a loss when Dan ewnicki was injured in mid-sean and we were constantly plagued
"Brian and his quagmire."

As it turned out, Mark Voyten hit our only homerun and we finished with a record of 7 and 8. It wasn't the record we anticipated, but it was our record and we had to take some pride in it.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

Amidst the exuberant shouts of "Batter up!" and "Play ball!" our 1974 softball season began. Each and every girl was full of vim, vigor and vitality. The determination to win was clearly evidenced in our faces. But we knew that victory would not come at the snap of our fingers or the swinging of a single bat. So we found ourselves practicing to become perfect.

We struggled through each practice. We gasped then laughed when Chris Smith threw a power-packed ball to Debbie Shaffer . . . and it shattered the window! And we were surprised when we discovered our varsity cheerleaders were the football players!

We managed to survive the bumps and bruises of the games. Theresa Cader's jaw ached for days after the ball "ran" into her. When she caught the ball without a

TRACK

While everyone else had spring fever, we came to practice with our sweating bodies and discovered that track was more than just a couple of "phys. ed." classes a week.

Looking forward to another winning season, we set our goals high and found we accomplished them more and more.

We stretched the extra inch to make it over the pole, hurled the shot-put balls to try to set a new record, and dug our feet into the sand as we competed in the running broad jump.

We were proud when two of our team members, Don Freedline and Lee Webb, qualified to enter the PIAA Championship meet. We cheered, screamed, and even prayed for Don, who set a new school record in the mile run of 4:30.1, and Lee, who set a new school record of 6'5½" in the pole vaulting competition.

Some spectators who had never seen us in action, asked us if there was more to track than running. The proud pole vaulters, discus and javelin throwers answered, "Sure, we jumped, threw little steel balls, and hopped."

As the season rolled to a close and we struggled to run our last lap, we realized that we had reached our goals and that our record proved it.

TENNIS

You might say we had an up and down season especially at tryouts with new "members trying to return the ball to one of the old seniors only to hit it into the net or over the fence. It seemed like everytime we'd be coming off a high from a big win (like when we tromped Riverview 4 to 1 and evened out our record to two and two), we'd turn around and lose (like the 5 to 0 loss to Penn Hills) in the following match.

Win one, lose one, it was like a seesaw . . . to tell the truth, we got pretty depressed at times despite

Mr. Santia's efforts and T.J.'s antics to cheer us up.

Plagued with this seesaw pattern, tennis became more a part of our life than eating. We criticized backhands and struggled to improve serves and lobs.

We joked, criticized, and offered suggestions to improve our games. And we fought, always fought, over who would ride in the van.

Some of us smiled when Mickey Roberto was named Most Valuable Player but some of us frowned because we thought "it should be me."

Maybe we'd never make it to Wimbledon, but we had tried, we had improved. Next year, we knew we would at least play a few more sets of tennis—and maybe even become "Most Valuable Player."

At the foot of the "Stairway to Heaven," couples talk of the evening to come, as the guarding angel watches over.

SPRING FORMALS

Taking a moment out to relax, Anne Slaughaupt and Randy Hall enjoy some refreshments and a lively conversation.

With the end of school in sight, we planned our last class activities: our spring formals.

As the "green" sophomores, we didn't have experience but we did have lots of ideas. With our "unique" decorations, and sheer hard work, we planned an evening of memories that became "our Prom".

While the sophomores sat contently in their classes, we juniors and seniors built our "Stairway to Heaven" at Laube Hall.

Although we initially posed as dignified ladies and gentlemen, after the pictures were taken, the shoes came off as quickly as the ties. We drank countless cups of punch, we boogied until we thought we would "drop", and we chuckled nervously at Dennis Bonner's "slip of the lip."

As morning neared, we slowed down a bit, yet beneath our drooping eyelids and worn-out bodies lay the "active" memories of a magical night that was "something special" to us.

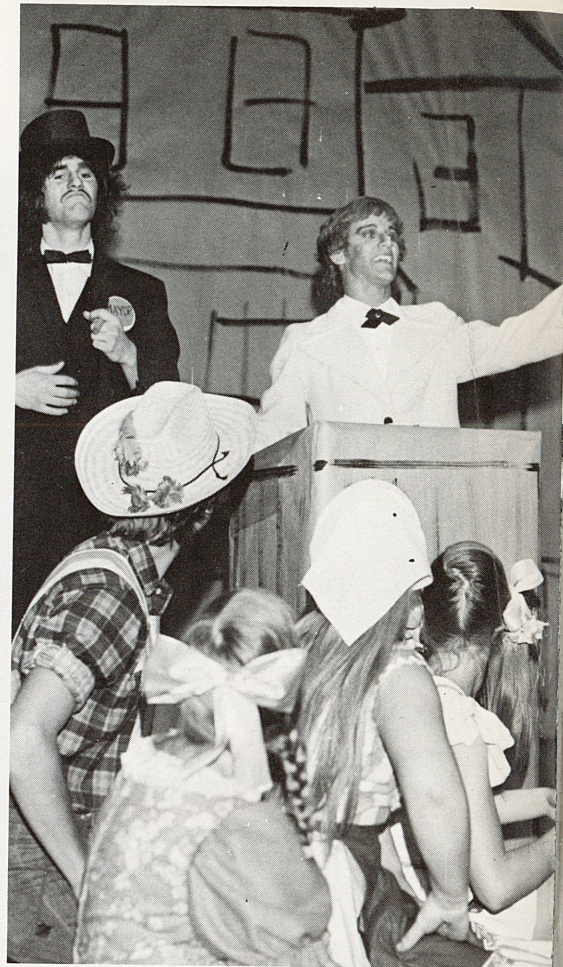

The crowd sways to the slow strains of Buddy Lee's music.

Between dances, Tim Law and Terri Meanor take a moment out for a chat.

Daisy Mae (Jodi King) sings out her dreams of marriage and the catchin' of Lil' Abner (Chuck Shipman).

SPRING MUSICAL

We began as an unorganized box of talent, waiting to be placed, shifted, and re-arranged to fit our skills. After choreographed into a second gym class, we limbered up for a long, but unforgettable, experience.

We compromised our time together to practice our dialogue and music. But while our minds sang "Un-necessary Town," our feet and hands danced to other farmer tunes.

We were one big family, at heart. We ran for the clean-up crew for the pig, or the nurse for Gus when he wasn't "hanging around," or a fire extinguisher when the lab lights wouldn't blink to the music.

Opening night, while passing "Yolumberry Tonic," we all tried to calm each others fears. And on closing night, we softened each others sorrows.

When it was over, we all cried individual tears, not all the same, or for the same, but we all knew we would never forget the week Lil' Abner came to Kiski.

With their attention fixed on Professor Finsdale, Dogpatchers eyes light up as they hear they are chosen as "the" unnecessary town in the whole U.S.A.

Perched high above the Indian cave, Laurie Kiebler watches all activity that goes on in Dogpatch.

Adding a special touch to "Rag Off'en the Bush" Pappy (Arthur Coulter) and Mammy (Alexa Costanza) dosey-doe to the music.

Waiting and listening for Daisy's reply, Earthquake McGoon (Ed Maurer) is ready to defend his title, World's Dirtiest Wrestler, for anyone who interferes.

If they had their "druthers" . . . Li'l Abner (Chuck Shipman) and the cronies would "druther" fish lazily all day.

GRADUATION

"Loving sadness filled our hearts" as we proudly marched into the gymnasium for the 1974 Baccalaureate.

We listened as Mr. Jackman told us of his "Formula for Greatness" in which he said that all things we do, no matter how small, would all add up. His jokes, like the one about the rabbi, priest, and the minister were hilarious, but as we laughed we also realized that there was a deeper meaning behind them. The speeches and the selections from the choir made our Baccalaureate something special.

Rain has always been a part of Kiski graduations, and ours was no exception. It rained all day and we were worried that the proceedings would have to be moved inside. But the rain stopped and we all sighed with relief.

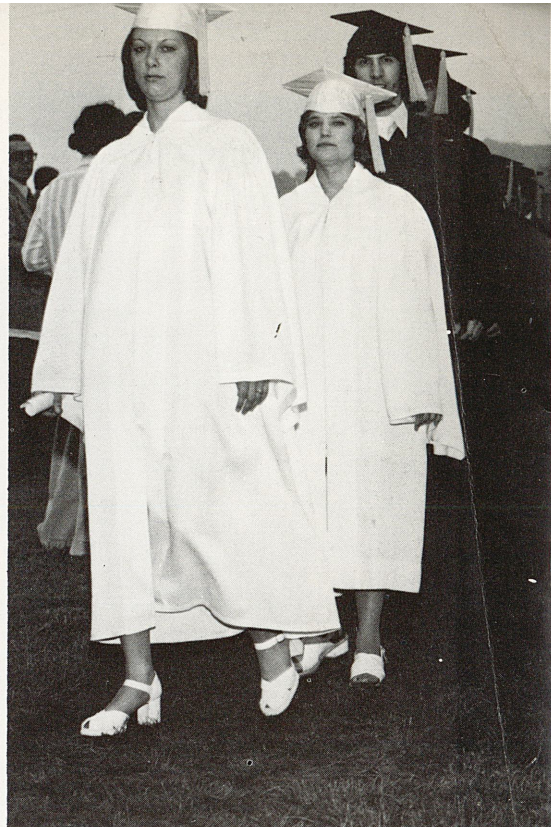

In our assigned seats, we listened as Loretta Mirandola and Tom Kovalciak spoke on "On A Long Way to Go" and "A Long Way to Come".

We all waited for our names to be called to walk across the stage and receive our diplomas. It was over before we knew it.

While we marched out to the "Ceremonial Recessional" we realized that our days as Seniors were over and we were on our way . . . on our way to parties and celebrations, but further than that . . . we had come a long way but we have even further to go . . .

RIGHT: With reflections upon her own future Loretta Mirandola speaks on "A Long Way to Go."

"No man is an island, entire of itself, every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main . . . any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind; and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee."

Class of '76

"Happy are those who dream dreams and are ready to pay the price to make them come true."

Mr. Miller, you have made so many dreams come true. May you truly be happy! We sincerely thank you for leaving your shadow at Kiski.
